SEVASTOPOL – Door 44 Winery is moving, getting bigger and more scenic.

The new winery will be two miles north of the existing Door 44, at the northeast corner of Wisconsin 42 and County P, north of Sturgeon Bay. It will overlook one of the vineyards that supplies the winery with grapes.

“This will have a view of the vineyard you can appreciate in the dead of winter,” said owner Steve Johnson. “I would characterize it as more of a contemporary-casual design, using stone and wood elements common to the region,” in contrast to the more Mediterranean-looking Parallel 44 Vineyard & Winery
