BIOGRAPHY

Jessica Tharp comes to us from Indianapolis, Indiana. For seven years there, she was involved with various performing groups-performing as a featured soloist many times. So, it was natural for her to come to FC as a Music Major. Here, she has been a member of the FC Friends for three years, the Chorus and the Chamber Singers all four years and is now culminating her time in the music program with this capstone event-her Senior Voice Recital.

Along the way, she decided to add science and health classes to her schedule so she could be accepted to a masters program leading to her becoming a Physician's Assistant. Her plan is to be a PA and, when she has time, teach private voice students.

Besides all the musical ensembles in which she has participated, she has been a member of FC's three-time National Champion Volleyball team, Alpha Club, and various other campus organizations. She was part of the 2014 production of The Mikado, and has competed in district NATS (National Association of Teachers of Singing) competitions taking 3rd place in the Musical Theater division last year, 2nd place this year, and 3rd place in the Classical Division this year.

She would like to thank her fine accompanist, Adam Booher for all of the hard work and time he has put in to helping her. She would also like to thank Mr. Moore for putting up with her, always pushing her to be better, and for the endless singing and life advice she has received from him over the last four years. Finally, she would like to thank her parents and her two sisters, Lauren and Rachel, who have sat through countless recitals and concerts, even when they were hard to listen to. "Thank you to all the many people at Florida College who have helped me grow in so many different ways during my time here. The last four years have truly flown by, and I am thankful to have had such a wonderful group of friends, mentors, and family to support me along the way."
