

Orientation to Camping

Short Description: Beginning camping from the ground up.

More Details: This is a three-hour course for beginning camper that is conducted in the classroom only. Students are taught how to get started, including types of camping; common equipment for different types of camping; use and set-up of common equipment; camping etiquette; camping activities; how to handle emergencies; and sanitation. These classes are designed for those that have camped very little or not at all and want to become more comfortable with the possibility of solo camping or camping with the family or friends without the need to depend on someone else to prep, make arrangements and/or set-up. This class is for those that have questions they were curious about and where afraid to ask and those that are anxious with all that prep, arrangements, and/or set-up and would like to become more comfortable. Please bring your questions if you want to know something specific about any of the subjects covered in this class. We are eager to help start taking the mystery and anxiety out of camping for you. This class does NOT include any live demos or hands-on activities. All activities are held in a classroom setting.
