

Meko Card Games

Safari Memory Game

2 Players

You are a park ranger and need to tag the wild animals that live in the wildlife preserve

Set Up

There will be three Piles:

- 1) Wild animals
- 2) Player 1's bait and catch cards
- 3) Player 2's bait and catch cards

The Goal

There are six animals that you are trying to lure out and capture to tag. They are: Lion, Tiger, Elephant, Mongoose, Crocodile, Rhinoceros. Flip over cards in the correct order to capture the wild animals. The player who captures the most wins.

How To Play

- 1) Start the game by shuffling each of the three piles.
- 2) Each player will look at the top card of his/her pile one at a time. Then he/she places the card down on the playing surface, looks at the next card, places it next to the first card, and so on. Ultimately he/she will look at each card and put it down making two rows of six cards.
- 3) Then flip over the top of the animal pile, this will be the animal both players are trying to capture.
- 4) Each player will try to flip over the correct bait card.
- 5) Then if the bait is correct, each player will try to flip over the capture card. If only one player correctly flipped the bait card, then he/she will be the only one to do step 5.
- 6) If the bait card is also correct then the player/players captures the animal, and flips the bait and capture card back over so it is face down. It is possible for both players to capture the same animal.
- 7) Then repeat steps 3 -6. Once all the animals are captured the game is over. Whoever captured the most wins. It is possible to tie.

Additional Rules

- 1) If neither player correctly guessed the bait card, then flip the card incorrect cards back over and both players try again.
- 2) If neither player correctly guesses the capture card, then all cards go face down and both players go back to step 5.
