

First, thank you for making this trip happen. I've always wanted to start a business of my own. I know things are easier said than done. No one in my family is a business owner so I really have no one to learn from. I want to thank AE for showing me the entire process of starting a business venture. I've joined other summer camps before, but none is as hands-on as this one. The one I had usually took place on a campus or academic environment, but this one is truly one of a kind. The BBC also visited the tea plantations here, so this place can't be wrong to have a blasting experience. I never thought about the ins and outs of starting and operating a business, but now I'm getting the hang of it thanks to John.

One compliment for him is that he taught us that if one day we become successful in our real business when we grow up, don't forget to give back to the community that made us who we are today. It's a great vision that I share besides making money. I wish the program was longer; it was too much learning and fun to squeeze in two weeks.
