

TRACTARIAN CHOIR SCHOOLS

All these choir schools were founded as a direct result of the Oxford or Tractarian movement

Church and Chapel

1. Bristol Clifton All Saints
2. Bournemouth St Peter
3. Bryanston, Blandford Forum, St Martin
4. Chapel Royal Choir school at Streatham Commom : closed 1923. Headmaster P E Davis moved to Worcester Cathedral Choir School
5. Chelsea St Mark's College : 12 boys (teacher training college) Chapel Royal boys used to boost the treble line. Thomas Helmore was choirmaster jointly at St Mark's and Chapel Royal
6. Croydon St Mary Magdalen (to be confirmed)
7. Croydon St Michael
8. Dalmahoy St Mary
9. Eastbourne All Saints
10. Eastbourne St Saviour; headmaster, Mr Thrasher
11. Fort William St Andrew
12. Frome St John's College
13. Grimsby St James
14. Hatcham St James
15. Hull Vicar's Choir School of Holy Trinity Church (then Hull Grammar School)
16. London All Saints Margaret Street
17. London Gray's Inn Chapel
18. London Kentish New Town St Luke
19. London Lincoln's Inn Chapel
20. London North Peckham All Saints
21. London Savoy Chapel Choir
22. London St Alban-the-Martyr Holborn
23. London St Andrew Wells Street
24. London St Barnabas Pimlico
25. London St Mary Magdalene Paddington
26. London St Peter Eaton Square
27. London Temple Church (shared school at one time with the Chapels of the Inns of Court)
28. Millport Collegiate Church of the Holy Spirit
29. Newland Choir School at the Beauchamp Almshouses and St Leonards Church
30. Torquay St John the Evangelist
31. Upper St Leonards St John the Evangelist

Private Aristocratic Household choir schools

32. Dalkeith House Chapel of St Mary
33. Northwich Arley Hall
34. Lambourne Ashdown House
35. Studley Royal (built but never opened)
36. Worksop Clumber Park Duke of Newcastle
37. Welbeck Abbey Duke of Portland

Independent Choir Schools

38. London Choir School, plus the English Boy Choristers
39. London College for Choristers
40. St Mary of the Angels Song School
41. Tenbury St Michael's College

These are the Tractarian choir school which I have so far discovered; there may be more.