

Celebrate National Bookmobile Day

Wednesday, April 11, 2018

For over a century, bookmobiles have delivered the world to their communities. Providing books, technology, and resources for lifelong learning, bookmobiles play an important and integral role in delivering library services in the United States.

Did you know:

- Bookmobiles provide many of the same services as your local library branch! You can search the web, read a newspaper or magazine, take classes, and check out books, DVDs, or even video games!
- Bookmobiles provide services to a wide variety of places, including schools, senior centers, adult education centers, employment agencies, day care centers, rehabilitation facilities, and correctional institutions.
- Today's bookmobiles are "green" vehicles that use less fuel and have cleaner emissions. They take many cars off the road by bringing library resources directly to the communities they serve.