

May 8, 2017

Brief - Biography of Cassandra A. Cannon

I have always believed I was born a person of vision; a renaissance child.

Although I never set-out to become a person in leadership positions, the moment I expressed my ideas and opinions, I always found myself preparing not only to invest in the causes I believed in, but somehow, leading the charge.

Being raised by devoted community, civil, and humanitarian activists through out my life, here and from over seas, I've begun to realize this may not have been my first choice, but it was always meant to be the right choice for me.

My name is Cassandra A. Cannon. I am a wife, a mother of four which includes our 14 year old shepherd mix, Snoopy. I am a daughter, a sister, an aunt, a grandmother, and the CEO/Founder of the United Urban Network, Inc., a non-profit 501c3 organization, incorporation within the Gary, Indiana region. We are a grassroots, socio-educational network.

Bringing the world to our people and communities with opportunities and freedoms gained through exposure and education is what my family did for me. Innovation, inspiration, along with embracing people of all diversities with like minds, and goals.

I am a child of tomorrow. Opening doors, crossing borders, I share in a collective of positive thinkers and doers. "Giving back while leading forward". This is our vision of the future, and this is who I am.

The power-in-the-people, is the power-of-the-world.

"One Vision, Many points Of View"