On or about the cutoff date, we will send you your table assignment with who you will be sitting with, then you may contact each other to decide who will bring what for each course for your table. Our BYOW dinners are always a great time to open something special from your cellar to be enjoyed by your friends who know and respect what you have brought. If for any reason, the bottle per person you bring to the event is deemed insufficient by a panel of your peers, you will have to buy a good one off Rathbun's wine list.
