RAY'S REMARKS:

I think winter is finally here and upon us. It has been crazy cold for about the last week and it seems like many more cold days are before us. We even had some sleet this morning with the promise of more stuff on the way. Well, it is time for the cold after all, so let's make the most out of this time of the year and still stay warm and busy while serving the Lord.

It's hard to believe that Brent and I will be leaving in less than two weeks for Ghana. We still have a lot of preparation to do and are trying to organize the needed supplies to make the trip. Please keep us in your prayers as we prepare for this trip. It is always comforting to know of the many who are praying as we undertake such efforts.

I talked with brother Williams Anarfi today. They are excited about receiving us soon. His wife, sister Josephine, is still making improvements in her health and she is still going to a specialist. Now that she has her diabetes under control, they have also found kidney stones which are causing an infection around her kidney. They have begun to give her antibiotics; however, they also want to crush the stones with a laser so that they will pass. Please keep her in your prayers as she continues to deal with her health. We will be assisting her again with this need so that she might overcome this problem. If anyone has an interest in helping with this expense, please feel free to talk to me more about it.

We rejoice that brother Keith Cozart continues to make improvements after his stroke. He is still dealing with some issues, but little by little he is regaining his life. Let's remember him in prayer. We also have several of our congregation who still need to be remembered before God's throne. Please also make sure to check the prayer list and keep these individuals before the throne of God. Prayer truly is a wonderful and powerful blessing from God.

I look forward to seeing you all tonight at our mid-week gathering. I hope you will be present and ready to give God your best. Until then, have a great and safe afternoon. May God bless us all as we strive to do His will and accomplish those things according to His perfect work.

ELDERS' CORNER:

In today's world, security during our times of worship and Bible studies is not only necessary but vital. We have been rated by the Springfield Police Department as having one of the best systems of security for a church in the city. In order to improve our readiness for any emergency that may present itself while we are at the building, we are planning to present to you Guidelines for action if and when there is bad weather, a fire in the building or an intruder who may come into our building seeking to do us harm. On Sunday, the 26th of January, after the morning service we will present to you protocols to follow in case of an emergency while we are in worship or Bible Study. Please be prepared to stay with us for an extra 10 minutes for the presentation. Also, these guidelines will be published and placed in your mailbox.

Ray and Brent will soon be leaving for Ghana. Continue to pray for their safe journey as they will be meeting the new class of students and help and assist with the school's activities.

The finance committee will be meeting again this coming Sunday to consider our budget for the new year. Soon we should be able to present to the congregation the new 2020 Budget that will include what we will need to begin the necessary repairs and improvements on the building. We want to thank all the men who are spending time to help with this important task of preparing the new budget.

Remember, on the 26th we will be having a congregational potluck after the morning service. Why not come and share this time of fellowship with us. You will be encouraged by doing so.

Don't forget to remember our loved ones who are dealing with health problems. They need our prayers.
