

Dr. Michael Lenaghan

Dr. Mike Lenaghan integrates academic, experiential, simulation and service learning strategies into curricula, projects, programs and seminars that are learner-centered, community inclusive and environmentally empathic across and within disciplines, cultures and socio-economic experiences. He is an Endowed Chair Full Professor at Miami Dade College, the world largest college. Also, he engages scholars of all ages through guest lectures, key note speeches and serving on Dissertation Committees for several Universities across the world.

Mike Lenaghan orients, infuses and integrates concepts, strategies and best practices of citizen diplomacy, community engagement and civic sustenance in his approach to neighborhood, municipal and national development through grassroots, "bubble up" conscientization, shared decision-making and organic evolving competence and confidence building education and training.

He energizes curiosity, values, imagination and constructive ingenuity in his approach to enabling, ennobling, equipping and evolving communities of peace by focusing on stepping stones that articulate justice, equity, inclusiveness and shared measureable outcomes in the cultivation of social and economic entrepreneurship from grass roots to roof tops, village to power centers: participatory, transparent, accountable, responsible, fair and friendly.