National Treasure

Auction of the Hidden Brick

When the movie “National Treasure” was released in 2004, it generated a new interest in Freemasonry. The idea that the Freemasons had hidden clues on the back of the US Constitution, which would lead to a hidden treasure of untold wealth, even emboldened the conspiracy theorists. The movie and it’s sequel have remained popular and Last year, Jerry Bruckheimer even confirmed that a 3rd script has been written!

At one point in National Treasure, the character played by Nicholas Cage is on the hunt for clues at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, PA. After climbing to the top of the building, he finds a brick stamped with a Masonic Square and Compass. He removes the brick to find a set of “Benjamin Franklin Glasses” that help him decode the location of the treasure.

This secret brick with a hidden compartment was recently auctioned off for $3,000.

Description

[NATIONAL TREASURE]. Prop Hollow Brick. [Walt Disney Studios, 2004]. Screen-used prop hollow brick with stamped masonic symbol and hollowed-out area, as seen in the blockbuster film. Approximately 8 x 4 x 3". Brick is cast in various materials including resin. This brick was used in a crucial portion of the movie and hid the special glasses invented by Benjamin Franklin to read the invisible ink on the verso of the Declaration of Independence. Modeled and painted to look old, as one would expect. With COA from Disney Auctions.

On The Level

Where Masons share stories of their masonic journey

Recorded on March 30th, 2016

Its really about the people

“I grew up throughout West Europe, I’m originally from Bosnia, and unfortunately due to the war I was ethnically cleansed and ended up travelling and lived in numerous countries in West Europe and eventually came to the United States. So I’ve always had this philosophy in life that it is really the people...you know, it’s not that we divide each other based upon religion but really good people, ya know, that always stood out to me. So I always looked at peoples actions and religion as a universal thing.....I found that hard to find, in the regular objective world, so one day when I was reading that excerpt (from Manly P. Hall) it really blew my mind— I was like, what, there’s other people that are like minded like I am? Is this real, is this what Freemasonry is? Before that, ya know, I watched documentaries, you know, and I always thought that freemasonry was this abstract arbitrary thing that perhaps doesn’t even exist. So, after I read the piece, of course, I’m at home very eager, very hungry and I started researching lodges and sure enough, we had lodges here in Arizona.”

Worshipful Brother Mustafa was initially raised as a Master Mason in Paradise Valley Silver Trowel Lodge No. 29 and is a Past Master of that lodge. You can hear this quote and a lot more conversation by listening to the full interview here:

Brethren, Friends, and Family,

In 2022, the Masonic Charities of Arizona approved 33 grants totaling $73,000 to worthy organizations throughout Arizona. 	The Chuck Wagon was invented by Freemason Charles Goodnight in 1866. Bro. Col. Goodnight, a Texas Ranger and Cattleman, along with his partner and friend, Bro. Oliver Loving a rancher, rounded up stray cattle from all over Texas and herded the Doggies to Bro. John Chisum's Spread near Fort Sumner in the New Mexico Territory. This would become known as the Goodnight-Loving Trail. He needed a conveyance for their Grub along the trail and the Chuck Wagon was born. The Brothers were members of Phoenix Lodge No. 275 in Weatherford, Texas, and are portrayed in the book and talking picture show Lonesome Doves.

This month, we share an excerpt from the March 2023 Trestleboard of Sy Harrison Lodge No. 70

A Castle and a Community

John B. Brooks, PM, Junior Warden

Brothers, for those that did not make the fifth Tuesday in January there was an interesting movie on the building of a 13th century Castle, and a group reconstructing one in a 20 plus year project. and you ask me “what might that have to do with Modern speculative Masonry?”

In operative masonry, the mortarmen, quarrymen, stone cutters, and master masons laying the stones were part of a larger community that included carpenters, smelters and metal smiths, as well as a number of skills and professions that support the project. Whether it was a castle or cathedral, the operative mason was an integrated part of society or community .

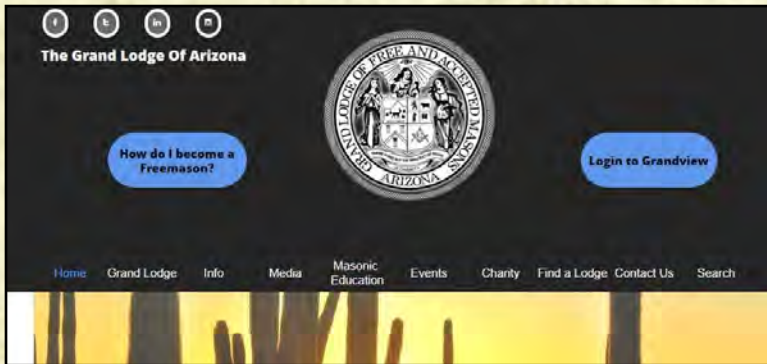

Image generated using AI Image creator artssy.co

So, again how does this relate to modern speculative masonry?

Just as the operative mason builders were a cornerstone of their communities, so might the lodge of speculative masons be in our time, yet we need to remind ourselves that our efforts are supported by others both in our masonic family and interaction with our communities, the success or life of a lodge of masons is not insular and if we turn only to ourself we will shrink and diminish and perhaps as a lodge even disappear .

Finding ways to connect with our masonic family and community may be different from lodge to lodge, yet I do believe if we do not, we may not continue. I have no doubt that the how and in what ways to connect and participate may lead to lengthy discussion and perhaps even debate, and that itself may lead to healthy growth.

Officers of a Lodge

by Bill Enloe

I'm in the East governing as the Sun and Moon

My term begins and as is over soon

I serve the Lodge as well as the craft

Fill the officers to ensure they're staffed

In the West I pay your wage

Assisting the Master is all the rage

In his stead, I'm expected to rule

Please judge not for I'm no fool

Look to the South at meridian time

The beauty of the Lodge is the station of mine

It took some time to reach my chair

More work to do, I'm half-way there

All things to be written and reported

I serve the Master without being discorded

Receive the money from the constituent

Give to the Treasurer and all is content

Take the money and provide receipt

Pay the bills and avoid deceit

The year's reports we must submit

All above board and continual legit

We are bookend brothers that walk the floor

He carries orders and I watch the door

Introduce a visitor and some more

It's done today like yester yore

We're near the Warden in the South

We've prepared the food in your mouth

A candidate prepared, is our charge

Circumscribe your passion or you'll be large

Devine guidance and a prayer

It is what I do, your reverend savior

If religious guidance is what you seek

There is plenty of words for the meek

Propound a question is what I do

To ensure the candidate is just and true

With baton in arm, I'm sworn to duty

To keep all present from acting surly

About the door a knock or two

Keeping cowans out is what I do

Tile the room and control admission

You cannot enter without permission

Brother Enloe is a Past Master of Hunters Paradise No. 85

James C. Penney

From the Facebook Page of Peoria Lodge No. 31

James C. Penney

Founder of the J. C. Penney Co., Inc., the world's largest department store chain, with more than 1700 stores in all 48 states, doing an annual sales of over one billion dollars. Born Sept. 16, 1875 in Hamilton, Mo.

A graduate of Hamilton (Mo.) High School, he attended in 1949 the Masonic cornerstone laying of a new high school building at Hamilton, for which he and his sister gave more than half of the $250,000 cost. He holds honorary doctorates from eleven colleges and universities. He founded the J. C. Penney Co. in 1902, and is now honorary chairman of the board. Known as "the Golden Rule merchant," he quit using the word "employee," and called each of his 90,000 workers an "associate," giving each a share in the profits in addition to a salary.

After the 1929 stock market crash, Penney lost his fortune, and wound up beaten and despondent, at 56, in a sanitarium, but proved that his method was sound by borrowing money and staging a comeback in which he recouped his fortune. Penney has influenced great numbers of young people through his business operations, Christian youth movements, and by talks, articles, and letters. His own comeback from the depths of financial and mental depression was made possible by a sudden and dramatic rekindling of Christian faith within him.

He received his degrees in Wasatch Lodge No. 1, Salt Lake City, Utah, April 28, May 19, and June 2, 1911. In 1955 he became a dual member of United Services Lodge No. 1118, New York City. He is a member of Utah Chapter No. 1, R.A.M., Utah Council No. 1, R. & S.M., and Utah Commandery No. 1, K.T., all of Salt Lake City. He has contributed generously to the Masonic temple of that city. He received the 32° AASR (SJ) in Utah Consistory No. 1, April 23, 1936, KCCH, Oct. 24, 1941, and 33°, Oct. 16, 1945. He has addressed many Masonic groups. In April, 1958 he was presented the gold distinguished service award by the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, at Kansas City, Missouri.

What is the Masonic Model Student Assistance Program(MSAP)?

Teachers are not experts in at-risk behavior which is why we developed the MSAP. Our training includes a highly professional and intensive three-day training workshop for Arizona educators to learn to improve their ability to; identify, intervene with, and create appropriate intervention plans for students at risk.

This workshop trains a core team of four to eight educators from a school in how to intervene early and effectively with students that display patterns of behaviors that threaten their success at school and life. MSAP involves practice sessions designed to simulate real events on subjects such as:

- Chemical dependency
- Depression & Suicide
- Conflict, Anger & Violence
- Family Dynamics & Enabling
- Life Skills Development
- Treatment & Aftercare
- Communication Skills
- Group Process & Intervention
