The Coon Caricature

If you look closely at the picture on the cover, you will see a "coon caricature." It is one of the most insulting of all anti-Black cartoon strips prevalent in the early 1900's in America. The coon emerged during slavery as unreliable, crazy, lazy, and subhuman creature good for nothing--the same election memorabilia aimed at Barak Obama just recently.

Blacks were portrayed as Coons, Toms, Sambos, Mammies, Picaninnies, and other dehumanizing racial caricatures. Jim Crow was more than a series of "Whites Only" signs. It was a way of life that approximated a racial caste system.

Slavery portrayed Blacks as servants, males (Toms) and females (Mammies). They were contented, loyal servants. The Tom was presented as a smiling, wide-eyed, server: fieldworker, cook, butler, porter, or waiter. Unlike the Coon, the Tom was portrayed as a dependable worker, eager to serve--much like Tiger (Negrito) Woods, OJ Simpson and Clarence Thomas.

Chapter 1

Introduction

If you as a reader can go beyond this point, you may learn something. If you can't stand to read one more ridiculous thing you think the Author is writing about, you need to "check yourself" because you are in a state of denial. Your mind-set is such that you feel the foregoing information is threatening to you and your psyche, and you will probably end up blocking it from your conscious awareness anyway. Whether or not you accept any of the information given to you, you must realize that before you were humanized, you were categorized.

In less than four years, 40% of the school age children in America will be non-White. Non-White teachers, on the other hand make up less than 10% of the teaching force. When children enter our American school system, White teachers and White principals greet them. When they open their desks, their textbooks depict White characters and story lines. When the White teacher takes the students to the library, the books that line the shelves are sectioned off into White fiction and White non-fiction. Within the book shelving of non-fiction are the subject categories of White art, White history, and White science.

When adult Americans go to the shopping malls and enter a typical bookstore, they see the same type of books the children saw in the school room and school library earlier depicting "White only." Way off in the corner is a section labeled "African-American Interest." Blacks seem to be the only ones who are interested in this section of the bookstores.

When both the adults and children get home at the end of the day and turn on the television, the major television networks depict "White news shows," "White dramatic series," "White sitcoms"--just plain "White Programming." There are White role models--from the former Presidents to Jesus to God himself. Even with President Barack Obama, a great emphasis was placed on his "White mother." His Black Father was criminalized by the media. When both the adults and children go to the movie houses, there are White heroes and heroines flashed across the movie screen.

Our National icon magazines and newspapers line the newsstands depicting the most beautiful people in the world--all of which have blonde hair and blue eyes. The newsprint features important scientific discovery makers and history makers--all with White skin.

If there is an interest for a book, there is a market.

If there is an interest in television programming, a market exists.

If there is an interest for a movie, there is a market.

If there is an interest for a magazine, there is a market.

Interest = I

Market = M

I + M = I'M

I'M the only one I see.

I'M the only one I read about.

I'M the only one that counts.

I'M therefore - superior.

Superior used as a noun means boss, foreman, manager, or supervisor. Take it for what it's worth readers. We live in the great White persona of I'M. The Author is not talking about outright "racism." The Author is not talking about outright "prejudice." The Author is talking about a persona of vibes that are emitted below the "awareness" level of the psyche. The vibes can be projected into the minds of willing individuals who are shuffling along with the planned program. You have been psychologically and scientifically deceived. Look everywhere and see the planned schematic program to dull the brain and destroy the mind and body.

Genetic ingenuity, social disgrace, biological blitz, Syphilis, AIDS, drugs, planted evidence, missing evidence, psychological trickery, Black self-hate, scientific deluding, destruction of Black history and Black Race credence, are compartments of an elimination program. You've been played. Check yourself!

Chapter 2

Willie Lynch or George Bushlynch?

The intentions are not to categorize groups of people. The specified goal is to correct false historical records. Examples of physical features and ethnicity have been used to emphasize certain points and give readers a needed.....WAKE UP CALL!

Note: The author's intentions are not to categorize groups of people. The specified goal is to correct false historical records. Examples of physical features and ethnicity have been used to emphasize certain points and give readers a needed.....WAKE UP CALL!

The US was founded on a maintenance system of beliefs and ideologies. A "White cleansing process" was used to teach basic values and views of the world. The process prepares individuals for their place, habitat, and territorial turf in the dominated Caucasian mind-set and/or culture.

Notice the Author's word choice. There is no such thing as a "Caucasian dominated world." Caucasians amounted to less than 20 percent of the global population. Between 1995 and 2015, the numbers dropped to about 8 percent. Only two percent (2%) of White females are at the childbearing age. The Caucasian dominated mind-set has agreeably created a Caucasian dominated culture. The Caucasian "thought reform" creates Caucasian dominated attitudes, beliefs and personal loyalties. In America, there is a "White is always right!" Campaign being waged.

Psychology books affirm that "thought reform" or brainwashing requires a captive audience. If a person is offended by a television commercial, it can be tuned out or the channel changed. Prisoners in POW camps in Korea and in Vietnam, for example were completely at the mercy of their captors. Not unlike POW's, slaves during the 1600's were completely at the mercy of their owners. They were disposable property of the master. If the master could no longer feed or care for the slave, the slave was sold off, lynched, or shot like an animal.

Brainwashing requires complete control over the environment and allows a degree of psychological manipulation that is impossible in a normal setting, but in the 1600's slavery was the norm. Slave owners could persuade the general public that slavery provided a "normal setting" in the country from 1600 – 1800. There are three techniques used to ingrain superiority and inferiority brainwashing:

The target person was isolated from other people who would support his or her original attitudes.

Like slaves that were separated from their families.

Like the Black Race being subjected to stolen history and legacies.

The target was made completely dependent on his/her captors for satisfaction of needs.

If a slave ran away, he was returned to his master.

Currently people dependent on social programs are completely dependent on those programs for mere livelihood.

The indoctrinating agent is in the position to reward the target for changes in attitude or behavior.

If the target slave didn't change his attitude or behavior, he was whipped or noosed up from the end of a tree branch.

Blacks' attitudes and behavior have been altered. Presently, brainwashing is ongoing.

Brainwashing has been in a state of reoccurrence for hundreds of years. Black brainwashing began with an attempt to make the target slave feel completely helpless. Physical and psychological abuse, humiliation, and isolation served to freeze former values and beliefs. Slaves were reduced to childlike dependency on their masters for day-to-day needs. Slaves were childlike. They were referred to with first names only: "Buster" or "Nanny"—no surnames—much like pets. If you look at slave records, you will find for yourself that slaves were recorded along with the other animals on a farm or plantation.

Change came about when exhaustion, pressure, and fear was unbearable and many Blacks hung from the end of tree branches. The continued coupling of hope and fear with additional pressures to conform the POW slaves served to congeal new attitudes and thought processes. The system describes symbolized White rudiments that have become realities in this country.

American politics have always communicated the White leverage system of beliefs to mass audiences while embedding its way into the very breadth of our society. This book looks at the system that is looking at all of us with pre-judgments and pre-placement into categories based on ethnicity.

Categorical language is used for effect and for attention. Since the author writes about Black/White issues plainly makes the writer a racist in most people's eyesight.

Whites feel they only people who can write or speak freely are those who agree with the "on top" status and rank in a definite color-brotherhood ridden kingdom. Blacks can only share views that are constrained and on-line with the White brotherhood.

Hence, the brotherhood at large has presented us with a society that has become irresolvable. Blacks who have been indoctrinated into this confusion of "White idealism" do what they feel is necessary to cross the color line socially and physically.

The White make-up of America has created the single ideal community where they are the only team members. When it is brought to their attention there are other teams who want to play, the Brotherhood suddenly has no clues about having created a singular White ideology. People believe the writer does not have the legitimate right to say such things about races of people. The Author's use of labels to describe Black/White issues is totally unacceptable for both Blacks and Whites.

Above the threshold of conscience, it becomes a crime for the author to talk about such things, but for White people to practice supremacist observations subliminally—it is okay. When the word supremacy is mentioned, people often think of the Ku Klux Klan.

Definitions for supremacy are merely exquisite, perfect, total, ultimate, and beautiful—all of which Whites perceive themselves and all of which some Blacks perceive Whites. Therefore, the author is a reverse discriminator while running a contest with words. Sometimes words will be used to skirmish and sometimes words will be used as resistance measures.

Whites can make a statement when referring to a Black person as "you people" and nothing is said about the statement being a racial comment. Following is the authentic preamble to promote Negrophobia:

We, the authentic people of the United States,

To form a more perfect White Union,

Make allowances for our White women who step out-of-line,

By classifying their children as multiracial-Caucasoid.

To insure White domestic relationships

There has been a fertility drug bank set up for

Whites who are habitual blank shooters,

But the intent is to asylum White women for White men.

We will continue to promote

Welfare, thugs, guns, and lack of political representation

But subliminal racism has worked best for our Niggas.

We will secure the Blessings of Liberty to Ourselves so that we may prosper.

Do ordain and establish maintenance of the White Race

For the preservation of a White United States of America.

There are many Willie Lynches in this country. Willie Lynch gave pointers to slave owners during the 1600's to keep slaves obedient to their masters. The pointers have survived the Twentieth Century and have slivered into the Twenty-first Century. Bush and "his boys" of the Republican Controlled Congress continue in Lynch's footsteps. Everybody in the US has gone through a "thought reform." One of Mr. "Good Ol' Boy" Lynch's tactics for control was to pit light slaves against dark slaves. The tactics are still in use today.

Blacks are the only ones who see themselves and refer to they/themselves as having different shades of skin or hair textures and eye colors. "Oh, she's light-skinned." "She's bright." "She's a redbone." Blacks love to make comments that they are "part White" or "part Indian." People can see for themselves what color of skin a person, but Blacks continually have to reinforce the Admixtures.

White domination in and of itself creates Black functional inferiority on a daily basis. The White man has mastered the "means to control." Blacks have been trained from within to stay disorganized, poor and outside the economic mainstream.

Civil rights leaders, Congressmen—elected from Black communities who offer influential and powerful political action committees, and Blacks who have economic power within the Black community are being trained, if not already trained to be co-conspirators from within.

Because of the social policies of some Black leaders and because of the internal social problems within the Black community, the politicians tend to influence economic instability in Black communities and in this country. They end up being helpmates for the staunchly embedded "color-brotherhood laden society."

Probe after probe by the media follow Blacks who are in the limelight. One wrong move by a Black leader or personality—singer, athlete, automatically puts that person in the foreground for teardown, scandal smudging, and dismissal for the Black and White community to see and savor. It automatically reinforces the "Brotherhood."

That way the negative media coverage reinforces the ineffectiveness that Blacks feel for one another. It also influences the way Whites feel about Blacks resulting in another setback—or Black get back attitude! Look at what happened to Michael Jackson, Kobe Bryant, etc.

It is much like Africans leading the slave catchers to settlements so they could kidnap people and bring them to America. The rewards were trinkets—jewelry or liquor—but who wants to hear about slavery. Today the rewards are gym shoes, jerseys, and hats turned backwards. We isn't slaves anymore—is we???

Blacks purchase most of the clothing, cosmetics, Cadillac's, CD's, jewelry, cigarettes, soft-drinks, 40 oz. Liquors, frequent the White dominated filmmakers' movie houses, or buy the majority of fast food sold in this great country. People are so far removed from that era of ancient history that the writer certainly must be deranged.

Our society continues to hand=out the trinkets of social reform programs. Isn't that the big-time answer to help eradicate poverty? Bring on the social programs!!!

This is constant scrutiny by the media for political doom if the person in a political office is not White. There is constant scrutiny of Black people who are in the limelight especially by the media and by other Black folks who tend to be jealous. Black unity has not been a forte. By nature, Blacks were savages first, slaves second, sharecroppers third, and presently "welfare mummies" and "ghetto dwellers." Oh, no! The author meant "Hootchie Mamas" and "Ghetto Fabulous." It makes you angry, doesn't it?

Black families and businessmen are unable to buy insurance coverage because of the "redlining" tactic used in certain areas of Detroit. Some people pay more for automobile insurance than they do a monthly car note. It automatically allows any other ethnic group to use the free enterprise route to move up the economic ladder and compete in the free enterprise market. It further deduces Blacks of any economic development and presents the ongoing decline of the Black community.

In Detroit Arabs supply food and liquor needs in the Black community. Arabs own chain store supermarkets, convenience stores, video stores, and gas stations. Asians own most of the beauty supply stores; nail salons, and cleaners in the City.

In Harlem, the Koreans own most of the stores along 125th Street. These ethnic groups can do business in the USA without paying taxes for many years before they pass it along to a relative. The Federal Income Tax Allowances for Resident Aliens participating in so-called "cultural or training programs" in America. The Aliens are not taxed on compensation paid to them by a domestic company that has an office in this country. Can't you see Mr. Rufus being exempt from income tax for seven years before he passes it on to another relative?

It all started with the silencing of Black origin, philosophy, and falsification of history. Second, it was human bondage. Historically and currently, YES, I said "currently," the White man, to reign supreme, uses slavery strategically.

Subliminal or brainwashing tactics are repeatedly used to reinforce Black inferiority in both Black and White minds at the National level. The media elites who are "in charge" disseminate media brainwashing schemes in the form of television, radio and newsprint stories.

Examples of subconscious thinking surfaces on a daily basis as this country watches the National news at 6:30 p.m. Once the news concludes, the entire country feels that drugs, crime, drugs, welfare are synonymous with Black only. All people tend to see the world according to media portrayal snapshots.

The media perpetuates White hate and Black self-hate.

The 6 O'clock news gives its lead stories. "Neighbors are shocked and investigators stunned as a murder shatters the calm of a Royal Oak neighborhood."

When Whites commit crimes, great measures are taken to explain what horrible psychological things happened during childhood to make the innocent person who is now a criminal—but until proven guilty act this way. The television audience is assured the murderer had a history of instability.

There is constant viewer reinforcement that crime does not customarily happen in this "quiet neighborhood." At the end of the new story the newscaster reassures the audience that counseling has been offered to the White people involved. The next news video frame shows Black men being hauled away in chains for a crime that has been committed in the Black neighborhood.

The Media Perpetuates the Hate of Blacks.

Psychophysics is a specialty area of psychology investigating sensory limits, sensory adaptation, and related topics. The subject matter shows relationships between physical properties of stimuli and psychological sensations produced. During the 19th Century it was discovered the size of the difference threshold (starting point) increases as the strength of the stimulus increases. When a stimulus is strong, change in it must be bigger to be noticed than when the stimulus is weak.

Subliminal perception—below the threshold of awareness was used by the media during the OJ Simpson trial. Talk shows started to elicit the subject of abusive relationships—always including couples featuring interracial Black men/White women. On the surface America was delving into the term "Abusive Relationships." Below the threshold of awareness Black men were being chastised for having relationships with White woman.

We see the examples every day. If a school is a good school, it is a White suburban school. All urban schools are bad. Good neighborhoods are White neighborhoods—even if the Whites are poor and live in small frame houses or trailer homes in trailer parks. The same thing goes for Blacks referring to hair texture. Straight hair is "good hair." "Kinky" hair is bad hair.

Reinforcement of White Supremacy beliefs—falsification of history in books, encyclopedias, and dictionaries

The author is not referring to the Ku Klux Klan when speaking of White supremacy. This is not about burning a cross in front yards. It is not about torching a Black church. It is about the deliberate destruction of Black civilization. Noted scholars are White; therefore, making White scholars authorities. Caucasian authorities are experts at scientific, psychological and social "racial engineering methods" which have been instrumental in the breakdown of the Black identification defense mechanism.

The aim of Euro-America has been to prove that Blacks are subhuman with an absence of historical existence, history, or credence; thus, creating a Caucasian based intellectual sterility that tells the world everything evolved from White.

King Massa James invented "Discrimination of the Divine" when he and his team of 47 translators redesigned the Black Continent of Africa, mixed it up with Europe and re-inhabited with White Biblical characters creating a thinking level of White dominance. Cheikah Anta Diop writes: If certain biblical passages, especially in the Old Testament seem absurd, this because Caucasian specialists, puffed up with prejudices, are unable to accept documentary evidence.

During the 1930's the Mafia dumped drugs in Black communities supposedly. Early in 1990 the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) played a major role in the domestic sales of crack cocaine for Nicaraguan Contra rebels helping to fund Central America's military operations. Even though military records were seized, Federal agents removed the evidence. The CIA and drug dealers in South Central Los Angeles dumped crack. The CIA knew that crack pipes would help to promote Black-on-Black crime and sustain the schematic brother formula.

Ultimate Negrophobia

It is a strange disease. It will make you hate yourself. It will cause you to think that anything that has African-American origin is less than perfect. Hate is like cancer. It results in a malignant evil that corrodes slowly and fatally and causes people to "cross the color line"—if not physically then M E N T A L L Y.

The disease will drive Black men to seek White women. Every time a Black man chooses a White woman, he is saying "above the threshold of consciousness," White women present the exceptional beauty never conceivable.

"Below the threshold of consciousness" the Black man is saying that Black women are not good enough—Step back—I'm the man! It will make Blacks to boast about having Grandparents with blonde hair and blue eyes. It will give way for blacks to mentions their Grandmother had long Indian hair.

It will cause White flight from "bad" Black neighborhoods and schools. It will cause a Black person to decorate their yards with White Santa Clauses and White nativity scenes at Christmas and Send White character Christmas cards to their friends. It will cause Blacks to buy White dolls for their children. It will cause the Black woman to go to the Korean run beauty supply stores and buy fake straight hair and blonde weave—just to have a bit of Whiteness.

Negrophobia has caused 28 million "light-skinned Blacks" to cross the color line and become "so called" white. Look around at the curly headed people with wide gaps between their front teen walking among you. There are even hair straightening products for "so called" White people. Twenty years ago, any curl in the hair meant "person with Negro ancestry." Today it means "naturally curly" hair. Flat noses and large lips were once considered "Negroid." Black skin was once considered "Negroid."

Just Bein' Niggers

As children, we all learned to play the game of "Simon Says." We have turned into a nation of "Simon Sayers." White Simon says: "You are Niggers." "Simon Sayers" immediately react and utter: "Simon says: We're Niggers--Therefore, you be my Nigger-Nigger."

Blacks in this country are referred to by the media as the "Urban Underclass" or "Rural South Poor" and have been trademarked and stamped using a "group numerology tactic." Whites refer to Blacks as "minorities" rather than individuals. Most Americans do know it is Whites who are the minority. Since Blacks have been lumped into one big group rather than as distinct and different, is that why we are ashamed to be Black? Are we just iterating what has been mouthed to us? Is that why we call each other "Nigger?"

As children, we all learned to play the game of "Simon Says." We have turned into a nation of "Simon Sayers." White Simon says: "You are Niggers." "Simon Sayers" immediately react and utter: "Simon says: We're Niggers--Therefore, you be my Nigger-Nigger."

Blacks refer to one another as "Nigger" in a friendly way. We all know there are two sets of rules in this country, but why is it okay for Blacks to refer to each other using that term? By mouth the word "Nigger" it reinforces the years of bondage even though the visible chains have been removed. Whites do not call themselves "Honkies." Chinese do not call themselves "Chinks." Arabs do not call themselves "Camel Jockeys" or "Sand Niggers." Then--Why are Blacks satisfied just bein' "Niggers?"

The word Neger that later became "Nigger" was found in Northern England in 1587, and Negre in Middle French (early 1600s). Both Neger and Negre come from Negro, Spanish and Portuguese for the color black, which comes from the Latin Niger, also meaning the color black. The word Negro fell out of use as a harmless adjective and slowly but steadily became a negative, degrading designation for Africans, replacing the term "Moor." Webster tells its readers that Moors are Caucasian in its continuing effort to disguise the Negroid ancestry of Spanish, Italian, and some Irish people. Moor is a code word. The title "Negro" was first used in relation to African people which traces back to approximately 1443, when Portuguese explorers went down the coast of Africa, past the Senegal River to Guinea, where they began trafficking African people as slaves. By 1555 (shortly after the first slaves were brought to London), Negro was adopted by the English as their term for Africans and other people of color.

According to the Dictionary of African-American Slang, the term Nigger appeared as part of the English language around 1620. Some researchers believe the word Nigger was derived from different words--"nick," as in nicking a coin;--"niggler" clips as used to file gold coins;--"niggling" meaning to "cut awkwardly;"--and--"nig" also a variant from nick; meaning to "niggle."

In early English, Nigger means to have sex. Some historians believe the word originated in Northern England in the Irish dialect (Negar)--an attempt to pronounce the Spanish word Negro--around 1587. The word "negar" was widely accepted as a diverse pronunciation of "Negro."

According to the African-American Slang Dictionary, there are 38 kinds of Niggers. Young Blacks use the term to mean friend, brother, man, person, girl, and woman. Some of the friendly uses include: "Bad-Assed (Nigger), Dog (Nigger), and (No-Count) Nigger. It is probably used in a comic sense to in reference to the plight of African-American culture's fervent history.

A "Bad Nigger" was first used in the 1700's and was used to denote an unruly slave. The word is used to refer to a rebellious Black person--usually a male. Michael Jackson made a video for a song called "Bad," which further popularized the African-American reversal of the meaning of the word "bad."

The derogatory uses of the term include the following: Nigger Babies, Nigger Boy, Nigger Breaker, Niggerdemos, Nigger Driver, Nigger Flicker, Nigger Flipper, Nigger Front, Nigger Heaven, Nigger-Hounds, Niggerhouse, Niggerhouse yard, Nigger in Charge (NIC), Niggerish, Niggerism, Nigger Jail, Nigger Killers, Nigger-Lover, Nigger Luck, Nigger Monger, Nigger Night, Nigger-Pot, Nigger Rich, Nigger Rig, Nigger's Bankroll, Nigger Show, Nigger Spit, Nigger Steak, Nigger-Toe, Nigger Trader, Nigger War, Nigger Worshipper, Niggery, and Niggra (Major, Clarence. Juba to Live: A Dictionary of African-American Slang, New York: Penguin Books, 1994 320-323).

From the 1900's to the present a Bad-assed Nigger is a positive, courageous person; a troublemaker; mean person. The most surprising terms used for Nigger were quite surprising. Nigger Night is Saturday night. A Nigger-Pot is homemade whiskey or bootleg liquor.

A Nigger Bankroll is a roll of singles with a large bill, such as a twenty- or a fifty-dollar bill on top and singles underneath. A Nigger Steak is beef liver.

The term Nigger was designed to spread race based assumptions. It is possible to strip pride, subservience is the only thing left. Nigger is a term of subservience. It tells the whole world that a Nigger is a farce because Nigger defines everything that is not positive. The Republican Congress and other people who are in charge flex muscles when they want to convey certain messages.

White has been superimposed verbally and visually by mass media to mean higher in quality and merit. See the show, and the entire race is the same. Everywhere a person looks in this country, there are visual images of White people--from the average White American, to the President, to God himself. (Note: Blacks are never mentioned as just the average everyday American. Blacks are always mentioned as "Black Americans"--never just Americans).

White Domination is a stimulus that directly influences conscious experience. Subconsciously, the "WHITE ONLY" value system is directly linked to the Black child's sight and conscience and affects his behavior as he reaches manhood. After many years of repeated association with "WHITE ONLY" a reflective response has occurred.

Both Blacks and Whites would outright deny such a thing has taken place--The writer should STOP practicing tribal identities. White people can only identify with other White people, and it has been easy for Blacks to assimilate into the White culture after years of rote indoctrination. Psychologically speaking, the identification process is important to socialization.

Whites cannot incorporate or accept another races' thinking, actions, and feelings unless the individual looks the same way they look. That is why Whites like to adopt labeled "bi-racial" babies. The baby has some physical feature denoting White Race identification. Therefore, the adopters are no longer racially prejudice because they have a labeled "bi-racial" or "multiracial."

It has become simple to accept multiracial people as a Pseudo-White Race. The repeated association with WHITE ONLY has emitted a reflective response producing the American Attitudes of White right!--Black back!

White people can only identify with other White people. That is the major cause for White flight from majority White cities, neighborhoods and schools. Blacks brag about moving to mostly White neighborhoods, but once White people realize that a Black family has moved next door, they're on the phone to the real estate agency.

As a city, neighborhood, or school becomes half Black, White people start leaving in droves because they have lost their means of identification. Identification has been defined as a defense mechanism.

Blacks want to look around and see mostly White faces. It makes them feel more affluent and in better company. Whites also want to look around and see mostly White faces. It makes them feel comfortable and protected.

Whites want to look around and see people who look the way they look. Identification is a means of categorizing and grouping according to familiar territory. Whites cannot incorporate black perspectives--goals, actions, and values into their lives because the separation was blatantly designed during slavery.

In this country Blacks can only identify with White faces, White verbal patterns, White family situations, White historical programs, a White God and White Mary, and White heroes--just plain WHITE DOMINATION. Therefore, White people are presented to the viewer as the smartest, prettiest, strongest, purest, most innocent, and most divine people in the world.

The print media and now electronic media have worked hard for 300 years to present evidence, to project views, and to educate Blacks and Whites. White people are smart, pretty, and strong, but Black people aren't as smart, as pretty, or as strong. Instead Blacks are crack addicts, live on welfare, shot and killed, or shoot to kill whenever possible.

It is only natural that people would tend to base the way they think and act, and feel on other individuals who are successful in gaining satisfactions from life. Therefore, children both Black and White behave more like people with which they identify. Women with kinky nappy hair and Black skin couldn't be considered as beautiful as blue-eyed White blondes. Identification serves an important role in the socializing process of people.

Achievement is highly valued in Western culture. Success, money, possessions, status, love, approval, grades dominance, power, and belonging to the right/White groups can be social motives. All are learned needs. People with strong needs for power want their importance to be visible. They buy expensive clothes, jewelry, and cars, live in White neighborhoods, go to White schools, and want White women at the end of their arm.

Blacks suffer from "learned helplessness." A pattern of no longer trying to avoid negative events is a learned pattern of behavior. The future looks bleak for some people, and they feel helpless to do anything to improve their lives.

Blacks and Whites use identification subconsciously as a technique to avoid, deny, and distort sources of threat or anxiety. Take, for example, daytime programming. Soap operas cast most Black actors in "mirror roles."

Black actors live in White neighborhoods, have no other Black friends, and find only themselves in rooms filled with other White actors. This is done because White producers and viewers cannot identify with a story line devoted to "Black only." That's why the Black-oriented soap opera Generations was canceled.

This identification defense mechanism is used to maintain an idealized all-White self-image so that the people in charge can comfortably live with themselves. All people practice Freud's psychological defense mechanisms subliminally, but everybody manages the reactions or copes differently to what seems to have been created "behavior patterns" in this country.

Media elites in this country have instilled certain chosen psychological demeanors. The populace, in turn, uses defense mechanisms to cope with created measures. Blacks and Whites alike use the psychological defense mechanisms to avoid, deny, or distort sources of threat or anxiety to those who are in charge. Every person defends themselves subconsciously from a buildup of uncomfortable tension with the "defense mechanisms" listed below.

Compensation: Counteracting is a real or imagined weakness of emphasizing desirable traits or seeking to excel in other areas. A Black person usually likes to emphasize what he feels his desirable traits are in school, in places of employment, or just casually without thinking about what is being said.

Example from a Black perspective: He is light skinned. I am half White. She has good hair. He has those pretty eyes and that sandy hair. My Grandmother has that Indian hair. I am the brightest.

Example from a White perspective: What is she talking about? All Black people look alike. As Blacks are busy emphasizing so-called White like desirable traits, Whites do not see Blacks in differing hues and skin textures. They are busy lumping every Black person into one big group of "just Black" people. The actions of one Black person depict the "entire race."

Denial: We all protect ourselves from unpleasant reality by refusing to accept or believe that we are not like those Black people seen three times daily on the local news that have carjacked a poor innocent White person.

Example from the Black perspective: We are not like those other Black people. If I can just use perfect English, dye my hair blonde, wear blue color contacts, and brag to White folks about my materialistic treasures, I can assimilate into the White culture and White world. Constantly we are telling Whites about the nice White neighborhoods in which we live, and the schools we attend. If we can deny our heritage, we can be White like psychologically.

Example from the White perspective: As the Black person walks from the room, the Nigger jokes start.--"There are just too many Miss Nellies moving into our neighborhoods. It's time to call my real estate agent."

A White person doesn't want to hear about a Black person's material wealth or how smart he perceives himself. Those are the things he himself wants. Affirmative Action, sports abilities, musical talent or illegal lifestyles are the reasons for Black success stories.

Fantasy: Fulfilling unmet desires in imagined achievements or activities. Hey! Isn't this the ultimate?

Example from the black perspective: The college degree and professional job might also require fulfilling the unmet desire of having that White woman. The adorned White woman is the ultimate in fulfilling all unmet desires.

Example from the White perspective: Fulfilling unmet desires to have a home up North or on lakefront property and away from the City, Blacks, and crime that bring down property values.

Whites still feel that most Blacks do not have male heads-of-households and custodial employment is the norm. Whites hold their childhood memories of Tarzan movies where Blacks are pictured as "primitive" and "savage barbarians" half-dressed and dancing. White Tarzan flies from tree to tree as the natives gaspingly appear inferior, dumb, and lazy.

Note: When 5 p.m. comes, how many White people go home with you for dinner? They are afraid to go beyond the White boundaries. Wake up!!!

Repression: We all protect ourselves by repressing thoughts or impulses that are painful or threatening. People have tremendous difficulty recalling shocking or traumatic events from childhood. Television talk show Black women as screaming shrews, in bigmouth, big butt close-ups, using street slang, and calling each other "Hootchie Mamas." It causes a big laugh from the audience as the Nation and Black men look at the clowns.

Black women help to reinforce the "big-loud-matriarchal" pre-determined dye cast mold affixed to a discerning public. The White woman is looking better every day to a Black man who wants a sophisticated woman as he watches the "Hootchie Mama" performances.

From both the Black and White perspectives: Blacks have repressed being different from what is considered the norm in this country. Therefore, both Blacks and Whites believe the White Man was first on the earth, is first in intellect, the most beautiful, built this country and made it prosperous.

Both Blacks and Whites believe Jesus was White, Adam and Eve were White, ancient Biblical characters were White, and that all things that of any value come from White.

Reaction Formation: Reaction Formation is a defense mechanism in which impulses are repressed but are also held in check by exaggerated "opposite" behavior.

Example from the Black perspective: A Black person who has supposedly escaped the "ghetto" or "inner city," obtained the college degree and has a good job consciously resents other Black people he feels will bring him down or cause him to be grouped into the "inferior Black category."

He is the ultimate Oreo. He appears Black on the outside. He appears Black every time he looks in a mirror. On the inside, he is "culturally White." He helps the White Race reinforce the thoughts of "culturally deficient Blacks." He immediately becomes absurdly overprotective of his own status and members of his race because he does not want to be viewed in a "Black group category" or perceived "like the rest." His real thoughts of "I hate them" and "I wish I were White or light" are replaced by "I love them," but I will acclimate myself culturally so that everyone will love me.

The hostile impulses are traded for "smother" love so that the Black person won't have to admit the dislike of himself. This is done to block the created threatening impulses or feelings that have developed because he feels he has escaped into the White realm.

This has happened over and over again for hundreds of years as Blacks have crossed the color line to "pass for White." It is happening today as many Blacks differentiate skin hues within their race. It is happening today as many Blacks want to escape their Negroid ancestry and become Multiracial.

From the White Perspective: Whites view Blacks--not as individuals--but as a category. Black is Black to them, but White women who have given birth to Black babies, and White families who have adopted Black children welcome the anesthetized category of Negroid so that their Black children can escape into Whiteland.

Regression: This refers to the return to earlier, less demanding situations or habits within a person's life. A Black man who marries a White woman may once in-a-while regress by going home to the old neighborhood to see his "homies," "get some good home cookin," or reminisce how he once was "Black."

Projection: Is an unconscious process when we blame our feelings, shortcomings, or unacceptable impulses on others as a means of defending against anxiety. Whites feel Blacks have the shortcomings of ignorance and superstitious ness. That psychologically raises White intelligence test scores.

Example: White clerks in retail stores feel uneasy and might believe that any Black person who enters the store is automatically a shoplifter. Clerks and security in White neighborhoods watch Black patrons so that they won't steal.

Rationalization: The making of excuses or "explaining it away" comes from a natural tendency to explain one's behavior. It provides us with reasons for behavior. Whites explain that carjacking only takes place in Black neighborhoods because of the high crime rates rather than accepting that crime takes place in all neighborhoods.

From the White perspective: When there is a murder or carjacking in a White neighborhood, the local news spends a whole week covering the story to delve into the psychological problems that would have caused the White perpetrator to do such a thing. At the same time the news coverage is convincing the audience that it rarely happens in good White neighborhoods.

The Black psyche in this country started its process of alteration almost 400 years ago when slavery was legalized, and Black women were called upon to be the heads of households. The altered mind-set has been reinforced in the past three centuries with the debasing terms being just a minute form of the reinforced alteration.

People who say, "We are all human beings and color does not matter"--should ask why so many Black people assimilate into the White culture physically, emotionally, and socially? Why is it so important to be part White? Why have so many people crossed-over the color line and denied their ethnicity? Why are there so many "Black-looking" people who say they are White? Why are there so many Brown Race people who classify themselves as "White?"

If light-skinned people are white enough in color to pass for White, he disappears into the population creating some of the "so called" White people we see walking around with nappy hair, broad noses, protruding teeth with wide gaps, rounds buttocks, and a sort of permanent suntan.

We identify or embody people's goals, actions and values into our personalities when they are successful and positive. Parents are the main agents for society to create and teach principles to their children by punishing disobedience and rewarding proper behavior.

"White righteous behavior" and "Black degradation behavior" is being taught on a subliminal level. Most people aren't aware of what is happening because the positive and negative behaviors are taught subliminally. You can accept what is happening, or you can ask yourself, "What kind of society is being created?" As children, we strive to attain a goal of "ideal" perfection. Experiencing inaccurate generalizations presented by media and parents soon become incorporated into our minds as we grow up.

When we hold a stereotyped view of a group of people, we tend to treat each member of that group as if the person has the exact characteristics of the stereotype. Example: If a White person sees a trash can knocked over on a White homeowner's lawn, his first thought is that a dog knocked it over. If a White person sees a trash can knocked over on a Black homeowner's lawn, his first thought is that the family is lazy and dirty.

Self-image and self-evaluation went through basic processes of development during slavery. During the 1600's White children were nurtured and molded to become teachers, musicians, writers, lawyers, and doctors.

During the 1600's Black children were nurtured and molded to become matriarchal baby producers and career slaves. Seeping through the cracks from that era is a stronghold on people that has developed a similar mind-set.

A slave owner named Willie Lynch delivered a speech to slave owners during the 1600's outlining three ways to keep slaves in line. He shared with other slave owners the developmental psychology needed to keep the Nigras in line. He said that if these tactics were used, the effects would last for hundreds of years. They were:

1) Pit men against women. How many times a day do you hear Black women man bashing??? How many times do you hear Black women saying, "I want a good man, but there are none out there." Black men come in last place and seem to be on the media's hit list, White men's hit lists, and Black women's' hit lists.

2) Pit old men against young men.

3) Pit light slaves against dark slaves and light Blacks against dark blacks--light Blacks are "not really Black but multicultural!"

His tactics are still at work today. It has become routine for Blacks to describe one another by skin tones. In fact--that's how Blacks are described. The term "Nigger" used in a friendly or casual way by Blacks directed to one another helps to keep the tactical mind-set in place. The US Government via the CIA has set up a tactical plan to keep folks high on crack so that homicides and other Black-on-Black crimes are the norm. Therefore, local police departments on Level I can control lives and lifestyles. On Level II lives and lifestyles can be controlled by the penal/prison system. On level III the Caucasian mind-set controls everything visible and thinkable.

Crime provides incarceration-tooling benefits, which are twofold. The first provides a preventative measure. There are less Black men on the streets; thus, creating a decline in the Black birth rate. The second is the realization of huge profits for conglomerates like Microsoft Corporation. The modus operandi keeps the American economy strong as prisons account for America's fourth largest growing industry.

Teenage pregnancies much like the Slave Era "Matriarchal system," create a "Dependency on Welfare Mind-set." It teaches "learned helplessness" to young Black women so that they retain and remain in a constructed state of being set forth by Willie Lynch's forefathers who now represent the majority or standard of the US population.

Blacks in America are dual citizens. They can survive in all color sectors of the US. Blacks have been taught to accept the key concepts of Western institutions. These concepts include a Euro-centric religion (White Biblical characters), education (European explorers and discoveries), economics (White exploitation with drugs, guns, AIDS, church torchings and welfare), and a government (contrived plan to noose 'em up)!

Chapter 4

White Women

A True Story that Happens 1,000 times a Day

She can shake her naked booty as a stripper or sell her wares on the street corner. . . But the White skin has made her superior to any Black woman. Some Black men need a White woman--this type or any type of White woman to boost their self-esteem. White women have become fascinated with the Black man because contact was forbidden just 20 years ago.

As Peggy Sue walks, her skirt rides up so that her wishing well legs and knob-knees protrude outward. She does not like to wear shorts. The material in the expanded sewn seams is stretched and gets caught in her crouch. Her translucent White skin shows varicose veins because of the weight she carries from the waist down. The excessive weight has not produced a rounded buttock but a wide flat white bottom.

The excessive weight and large breasts cause her body to hold more heat than a person of average weight. The heat causes her hair to become bone straight as it strings down her back, and perspiration beads on her forehead. Peggy Sue is a good person who has been raised to love God and respect all mankind. It is a Friday, and she has plans to go out with her friends that evening after work to a singles club in the metropolitan area. When she gets to the club, there are a lot of single men and women looking for mates, but she feels she does not have a chance because of her appearance. The music is vibrating, and the party is jumping. She watches her friends dancing. She wishes she could dance but does not want to bring attention to herself because she might bring the roof tumbling down!

She looks up. A handsome Black man looks in her direction and then asks her to dance. She waddles toward him--legs looking just like the turkey drums on a Thanksgiving Dinner table--fat and greasy. Mr. Bernard Black Hunk is impressed. She is beautiful. Her skin is so smooth and White. Her hair is straight and lays flat on her head. Mr. Bernard Black Hunk has the immediate startling realization that he has one of the biggest White diamonds on Earth. His dreams have been answered. Peggy Sue is so exquisite. She is mild mannered, quiet, and is eager to talk about his interests. She has the right attitude!!!--To match his White-right attitude!!!--The White Subliminal Created Attitude!!!

Mr. Bernard Black Hunk tells one of his friends that he has just met a beautiful White woman in which he could become very interested. His friend says, "Is she pretty?" Bernard comments, "She's White, isn't she?" Mr. Bernard Black Hunk has just met Peggy Sue but immediately comes to the realization that even if she is strung out on drugs and in rehab or on furlough from a mental or correctional institution or has head lice, she is one White Gem.

"In fact, I might even marry her," says Bernard. He remembers reading a statistic that in 1995, 10.5 percent of all Black men who married legally, married a White woman. Mr. Bernard Black Hunk is driving a Mercedes, has a MBA and loves him some Big Greasy White women. He has internalized and perceived himself as worthwhile only when he can accentuate his actions and feelings in accordance with the WHITE grain.

To put it plainly, he wants a part of the so-called American Dream. He suddenly forgets about where he came from and sees the White woman as an object to help him get "on top." He often denies feelings that are inconsistent with internalized conditions of worth. His quest to--DESPERATELY SEEK WHITENESS is the only way to be truly worthwhile. This ASSIMILATION assures acceptance in his mode of building self-esteem. He will share whatever he has with her. He praises her!!! He worships her!!! She is his world!!! This White woman has been placed high on the IDEAL pedestal!!! She truly has become the superior being constructed by the White Race to carry on the 8%!!!

She can shake her naked booty as a stripper or sell her naked booty on the street corner. . . But the White skin has made her superior to any Black woman. Some Black men need a White woman--this type or any type of White woman to boost their self-esteem. White women have become fascinated with the Black man because contact was forbidden just 20 years ago. Television screens show these Black handsome muscular hunks in sports arenas. As they run, their bodies sway from side to side in synchronization. Naturally, this causes psychological mystique and excitement from the rigid calculated Caucasian man.

The fat, ugly, low social strata White woman has never received this kind of wholesome attention from a White man. So, she eats up the attention--raising her self-esteem. She gives Bernard Black Hunk all the praise and attention he needs to make him feel he is "THE MAN." As he hollers, "WHO'S THE MAN?" He has crowned her "QUEEN" for life.

Mr. Bernard Black Hunk now has a White woman by his side. It makes him feel he is just as good as any White man in our "White man dominated culture." He has the professional job, big house in the suburban community, and beautiful mulatto children so that he may assimilate into the White Culture to assume PSYCHOLOGICAL.

The "Klu Klux Klan" has been appearing behind sheets in small towns for years and recently on major network talk shows. All over America the Klan members hold meetings to talk about racial purity and burn crosses. All over America Klan members have been burning Black churches. On talk shows the Klan members jeer, chant, and taunt. "Ya Al' Niggra Boys just keep hav'in babies, collecting Welfare checks, and smok'in dope." "Ya Al' need to go back to Africa and give us back this here U-N-I-T-E-D S-T-A-T-E-S O-F A-M-E-R-I-C-A." "This here is our country." "Why ya here taking our money and our pretty White women?" "We confirm a pure White Race."

As the Klan talks, the network talk show hosts and guests seem to be more accepting of Blacks and racial issues than other group of people in this country. The Klan sneers at the audience--"P-o-r-c-h M-o-n-k-e-y-s." The effects of interacting with a group of people are different than with an individual. The process of interacting with others changes people.

People tend to act like other members in a group even when asked to conform to a point-of-view.

People who appear on talk shows will continuously tell panel members they are wrong in their racist thinking and that all people are equal. The group rehearses before the media audience implying a love between different races and purporting a colorblind society. The audience members swear that when people walk down a street and see someone to whom they are attracted, skin color does not play a role and that love is colorblind.

People usually make decisions based on what they think others will think of them--particularly parents and persons of authority. Because of implanted color rules and biases, people make decisions based on these learned rules. Peer groups represent the most important people in an individual's life. White peer group orientation just like Black peer group orientation includes conformity to the ideas and judgments of that group whether it is peer influence or parental influence. People adopt the values, attitudes, style of dress, and language of their parents and peers.

If a mixed group of Blacks and Whites listened to a speech about Adam and Eve being Black and all skin colors coming from Black, do you think they would be more likely to believe Minister Louis Farrakan or Billy Graham? Of course, Whites would believe Billy Graham--So Would Blacks. We are all subjects of persuasion. Society has a high degree of influence in social situations affecting our behavior. Groups influence individual behavior through our own tendencies to conform with a group even when we are not asked to do so.

Sometimes Black men outwardly seek White women. Sometimes Black men subliminally and psychologically do not realize why they seek White women. When they look at White women, they consider them beautiful because of perceptual expectancies that have been created by media suggestion. Since their perceptual expectancies have been titillated, Black men view White as the premium of all women.

Television, movies, newspapers, and magazines feature the most beautiful people in the world as White lead actresses and White centerfolds. Perceptual learning has built up mental categories of beautiful people being blonde and blue eyed. Note: Blacks are not the only ones who want honey blonde hair. Clairol makes many shades of blonde dye for White women. "Blondes have more fun."

Perceptual categories make a difference since we know people are often categorized. Categories might include the following: "punks," "mental patients," "queers," "honkies," "Niggers," "bitches," "dysfunctional" "welfare queens," and "Nubian Queens." When labels define people, observers are influenced (Coon, 135-6). The illegitimacy rate is nearly three times as high as in the immediate aftermath of slavery. Individuals from illegitimate births provide over half of the US murder statistics. 94% of Black killings and murders are Black-on-Black crime.

Categorically Speaking: For Whites to be with other Whites and Blacks to be with other Blacks seems to be an unlearned, inborn reaction to an unconditioned stimulus that we here in the US have accepted for centuries. Some White fathers may provoke their daughters to seek out and pursue the Black man. When children are little, and parents have tried to suppress inappropriate behavior in a negative manner, a child soaks up the stimuli from his environment and becomes rebellious; thus, trying to get back at the parent. Parents attempt to assert their authority, and conflict develops. This may cause the child to direct feelings away from the primary father object and seek something else that makes her feel better. When children are in the formative years, things happen to them that they remember as they grow into adults.

Example: By repeatedly spanking a child for "talking back" to you may lead the child to quit talking to you altogether. A common reaction to punishment is to dislike the person who inflicts the pain, and sometimes reacting combatively towards the person. An aggressive reaction to get back at parents may be to aggressively seek Mr. Black Hunk and retaliate. The retaliation might be to seek Mr. Black Hunk because he has been labeled "forbidden." The "forbidden" label may entice excitement.

This is the type of White woman, who after marrying the Black man has a hard time accepting the fact that her children are Black. She realizes that she has made a grave mistake with her rebellious behavior and does everything in her power to convince her children that they are not really Black but mixed. People of the White Race have found themselves in a quandary. Their White women have gone astray--keeping themselves not only unto White men. White couples seem to be thwarted with infertility and need fertility drugs for production and manufacture of White babies.

The Author has a theory to insure "White man existence." Maybe fertility drugs are the rudiments to White Race mortality. The telephone Yellow Pages in large cities has pages of doctors and clinics specializing in fertility clinics, in vitro fertilization, sperm banks, and drugs to help the "White endangered species" survive. The "White endangered species" continues to push Norplant in Black communities while picketing abortion clinics in the White community. In fact, there are birth control methods used globally to stop the production of people of color--What's up with that? Another thing that thwarts Whites in this country is abortion of White babies. Because Whites can afford the procedure, they are more likely to use abortion to terminate an unwanted pregnancy.

Recently, there has been widespread news coverage about White couples adopting babies from Russia and Croatia. There are White couples who adopt Black children--but can Black couples adopt White babies??? That's unheard of--You know it is. There are many National reports on the condition or orphanages in Russia and how Russian babies need good homes. Could a Black family go to Russia and adopt a White Russian baby?

As Black women are encouraged to use Norplant--a method of birth control, White women are taking fertility drugs. There is no secret that White childless couples would pay almost anything on the "Baby Market" to adopt a White baby since there is a shortage of White babies. It seems obvious that there may be some reasons why. In White neighborhoods, there are stores that sell leather straps, spikes, and chains to nourish sexual arousal. It should not be a surprise to anyone that a woman, regardless of color, runs like mad to get away from the practice of sadism--chains, whips, and spikes?

A White woman does not have to put up with treatment like that. There is a Black man that will hang from her every movement and word. He will kiss her butt and may even lick it. Black man bashing has yielded the unconscious turned conscious feeling that White is right, and the White woman is thusly virtuous. Self-hate Therapy ^equals^ A White-right woman!

In the US, there is a silent war declared. This war is with the forfeiture of America's White women. America will protect its White women. Legislatures in this country will work hard to get the racial category "multiracial" on the next US Census. General determinants of interpersonal attraction have variables that influence the Black man's perception of White women. White women perform and transact the ultimate "Physical Attractiveness Role" in society. A member of the Aryan Race that is untouched by Jews and non-Whites is holy, pure, and in the likeness of God. White men and a whole lot of Black men perceive the image of White skin as the ultimate in physical attractiveness.

Black men, following in the shadows of murky waters and mainstream obstructions perceive White women in an identical manner. Physical attractiveness is the most important factor in the early stage of a relationship. To that end, opposites attract. The opposite characteristics complement or advantageously "fit" with one of the Black man's own attributes--feeling U - N - I - T - Y with the rest of the world.

A Black man feels better about himself because he has the revered White woman at his side, and he has an accurate view of the self-actualized life. The White woman is a positive step in the right direction. He feels a sense of harmony with the White Brotherhood Kingdom. His self-esteem has been bolstered. It is only natural that humans possess an inner drive to grow, improve, and use their potential to the fullest.

Because of cultural differences White women tend to be more submissive than Black women. A dominant person might prefer a submissive person, and a person who likes to nurture and "take care" of others might prefer someone who will take care of them.

Chapter 5

Wagering Webster's Warped Dictionary

A sense of pride + a rich tradition and history ^{^equals^} a White team spirit to falsify. Whites have succeeded to cup and cap Negroid beginnings. When pride is stripped, subservience exists.

Webster claims to be the authoritative core of the English vocabulary. Webster affirms a staff of professional lexicographers providing the reader with a concise and handy record of the English vocabulary. The Webster Dictionary is an American icon to which readers give credence. Webster tells the reader that Egyptians are members of the Caucasian Race. Encyclopedias tell the reader the origin of the Egyptians is unknown but were probably members of the Caucasian Race. The Egyptians referred to themselves and their country as Khemet meaning "Black."

The issue of racial identity in Egypt past and present has been subjected to distorted politics and scholarship. Today Egyptian society is regarded as white-Arab and its black-African roots and population marginalized and in many instances denied an existence or any association with the civilization that made the greatest contribution to mankind. Napoleon Bonaparte's destroying the black African portraiture in the faces of the sphinx in the 18th Century (1798) is but among the plethora of direct actions to disassociate the glory of Kemet, known today as Egypt from the Africans who founded this civilization of civilizations. Currently, reclaiming Egypt's African past faces opposition from its overwhelming Arab present and Europeans internationally in all spheres of power who find it more profitable and believable to imagine that Ancient Egypt was not African. Not to be discouraged by these efforts, African scholars such as Dr. Manu Ampim continue to reaffirm Kemet's African-ness to foster "...human capacity, potentials, and possibilities" in Africans everywhere.

Encyclopedias also play eradication games substantiating the Egyptian Civilization as the oldest in the world with written records dating back 6,000 years, but the origin of the Egyptian Civilization then becomes unknown. The pages of reference books that line our schools, colleges, and public library shelves revere the entire world as white.

Webster tells the reader that a Moor is Caucasoid. It seems ironic that after seeing pictures of Shakespeare's Othello in the 1995 movie starring Lawrence Fishburn shows the Moor Othello as a Black man, but the truth can still be concealed by Webster and his team of lexicographers—so what's up with that?

Following are some more of Webster's Warped Definitions:

Moor – One of a North African people of Arab and Berber ancestry (Caucasoid) who conquered Spain in the 8th Century.

Berber – A member of a Caucasoid people of Northwestern Africa.

Arab – A member of a Semitic people of the Arabian Peninsula in Southwestern Asia.

Beginning in the Middle Kingdom (2133 BC) African-Asians (Coloreds/Egyptians/Mulattos) far outnumbered the Asians in Northern Africa 1500 years before. Out of this situation developed a passionate and defiant nationalism that restricted the term "Egyptian." Knowledge of Egyptian history begins at an advanced stage of culture with Menes (or Men). Menes was the first king of the 1st dynasty (family) of rulers. He united north and south kingdoms of Egypt about 3000 BC. This began the long period, during which there were 30 dynasties, each with a series of kings called pharaohs who ruled Egypt for 25 centuries.

Cheikh Anta Diop writes about the falsification of ancient history. Here's what he said:

- Black Africans (Kushites) becomes incompatible with the ideal of the first inhabitants who civilized Arabia before Mohammed; the land of Canaan, prior to the Jews (Phoenicia); Mesopotamia, prior to the Assyrians (Chaldean Epoch); Elam; India, before the Aryans.
- Given the ideas we have been taught about the Negro, even if the evidence proves objectively that civilization was created by the said Negroes (Kushites, Canaanites, Egyptians), it must be wrong. By searching diligently, we can find the opposite.

The confusion of our Halfway-Cunning Education

In urban schools, teacher staffing is usually white. Black teachers in this country make up only about 5 percent of the teaching staff, although minority student population accounts to about 33%. The curriculum is designed with White foundation models.

Four years of English are required for graduation that usually includes a year of English Literature chucked full of Dickens and Shakespeare. “O Romeo, Romeo! Wherefore art thou Romeo?” is considered a classic.

Three years of social studies are required for graduation that includes ancient world history, US history and US government. The courses taught cause’s students to believe thoughts that have been falsified.

Racial issues generally surface in elementary schools with racially related “Nigger” name-calling. It’s hard for me in high school to read and memorize works from English and American authors for a grade to graduate from high school after knowing the works are a part of the schematic plan to whole the Black Race of people.

There are mismatches between students and white teachers’ expectations of them. Since teacher’s personal experiences are usually quite different from those of students, teachers often do not understand students’ life experiences.

When Blacks are mentioned at all by ancient history books, they are confined to the 25th dynasty called “The Ethiopian dynasty.” The period has been labeled “period of decline.” As part of the Black cover-up, inscriptions on artifacts have been defaced, African heads are lopped off, and noses have been chiseled down, photographs have been taken from misleading angles or through misleading camera filters to show any trace of Whiteness.

If you stand on the peak of the Great Pyramid of Khufu at Giza, looking south, you can feel a spirit walking down a street that takes your mind back to the beginning of man’s longest civilization. The Sphinx was a portrait statue of the black Pharaoh Khafre (also Cephren) and was built during the greatest of all the pyramids. After thousands of years the spirit of Cheops seems to cross the Libyan Desert. There stands the three famous Pyramids of Giza.

Constantin Francois Volney is billed as a French intellectual republican and savant epitomized the enlightened history and political thought of the 18th Century. Volney was a senator under Napoleon. When Count Volney stood under the shadow of the great Sphinx in 1783 and looked at the man-made mountains stretching across the western desert, he was startled and confused. He could not believe that Brown and Black-skinned men who had taken him to view the pyramids and stood on the banks of the canals as he gazed at the pyramids were the native Egyptians. They looked like the slaves in his French Empire.

He could not understand how history was reversed. He felt a strange guilt. He wondered how the loathsome and disgusting Black Race could have contributed the wealth he saw in the development of Egypt which had inspired the pre-European civilization. He later wrote, "When we reflect to the race of Negroes, at present our slaves, and the objects of our contempt, we owe our arts, sciences" This rediscovery by Europeans of ancient Egypt came as an embarrassment to Volney.

It became necessary to the peace of the Christian conscience in Europe that was then prospering from the massive exploitation of Black slaves that Black history had to be falsified. Blacks lost the honor that comes with racial worth.

Black identification was lost right here. Presently the Black mind operates positively towards the white Race and negatively towards himself and others whose color is identical—the direct fallout of a defense mechanism labeled by psychologists as identification.

When the Europeans designed the racial categories Negroid, Mongoloid, and Caucasoid, the distinctions made reference to certain structural features, skeletal measurements and relationships within the groups. The physical differences used by anthropologists to divide human beings into various included skin color, hair, eye orbits, bone structure, blood types, fingerprints and head shapes.

Skeletal material from Egypt was selectively gathered, measured, and classified. During the 19th Century American Anatomist Samuel Morton used pseudoscientific criteria to flatter and delight his Negrophobic listeners. He demonstrated to their satisfaction the Egyptians were a Caucasoid Race and indigenous to the Nile Valley.

Later Morton's findings have shown to be false. Extensive skeletal surveys of the ancient Egyptians, both before and during the dynasties, show them to be roughly the same racial composition as Blacks of a modern Caribbean island, with a predominately Negroid base with traces of Asiatic and Caucasoid admixtures. According to Ivan Van Sertima ancient Egyptians became mixed with Asians and Whites migrating to the north of Egypt. The Nile was the meeting place of races. The unification of the lands in northern Africa led to the mixture.

William Shockley and Arthur Jensen made the largest strides to prove that IQ was directly tied to race. They also theorized a Caucasian superiority connected to high IQ scores. Shockley was a Nobel Prize winning physicist. In 1969 Shockley wrote about race and IQ.

Lower Egypt became physically and culturally a “mulatto” Egypt. Asians married Africans and the integration of the two peoples proceeded apace. European histories have ignored the African beginning, the African political and administrative structure, the African agricultural contribution on the Nile, the African science of mathematics and mummifications—all the elements that laid the basis for the first four dynasties.

The Sphinx is a portrait statue of the black Pharaoh Khafre (also called Cephren) for the greatest of all the pyramids was built during the reign of the African Knufu (Second Dynasty, 2590-68 BC).

European histories have not only ignored African beginnings but have turned historical Africa into a Caucasian continent. The flat noses and big lips of the great Sphinx were shot off by Napoleon and his army. Negroid mummies were destroyed to conceal the Negroid presence in Egypt when the mummies were transferred to places like London for museum Egyptian displays.

A-L-L—R-I-G-H-T-Y now! You know that science and mathematics were White innovations, don't you? Even though Negroid human substratum has been found in whales, North Italy, Sardinia, North Portugal, Traz os Monte, and Spain (west of the Pyrenees) and other scattered places in Europe. Evolution of a Black world has been authenticated, but there is still an ongoing global falsification.

A sense of pride + a rich tradition and history ^equals^ a White team spirit to falsify. Whites have succeeded to cup and cap Negroid beginnings. When pride is stripped, subservience exists. Whites can now point at the utter chaos in central cities with glee because they don't have to take blame for what they have helped create. There are also many Black team players helping transact Act 1, Scene 1 of the continual tragedy Central City Lunacy stage performance. The time has come to pull up a chair at ringside and watch the further destruction of an entire race of people.

Chapter 6

Affirmative Action & the Ignorant Stick

During slavery, Black people were the only laborers, skilled, and semi-skilled workers. In the Ante-Bellum South Black people were the manufacturing cartels and conglomerates of the day.

During slavery, Black people were the only laborers, skilled, and semi-skilled workers. In the Ante-Bellum South Black people were the manufacturing cartels and conglomerates of the day. The “slave artisans”—laborers of the day were skilled tradesmen in carpentry, blacksmiths, coopers, cobblers, and wheelwrights. Domestic, artisans, and foremen constituted the aristocracy of slave society. Whites would ask for permission from the masters to work with the “slave artisans” to learn the trade. When immigrants from Europe arrived, they pushed Black skilled workers from the crafts they had previously dominated. The New White European immigrants created strong exclusive unions that banned Black workers. To be a skilled tradesman, you had to be in a union, and Black people were banned from skill trades unions.

White politicians are using Affirmative Action as an excuse for an assumed "Black Counterproductive Reward Method." White people assume that Blacks who have good jobs and "pie in the sky" positions are the direct result of Affirmative Action Programs--not intelligence and hard work. Blacks could not seriously be as smart or as well educated as Whites; therefore, Blacks have good jobs because of Affirmative Action Programs.

A White person goes for an interview, but a Black person is hired. The White person readily feels he was not hired because of racial quotas. He automatically feels that he was the "more qualified" applicant merely because he is "White." Whites are better trained, smarter, and without a doubt should be chosen when it's Black choice or White choice time??? It's a White man's world!!!

Even before Affirmative Action Programs by the Federal Government were imposed, there were people of color in high-level occupations. Blacks were rising economically and educationally many years before the 1971 legislation. Affirmative Action should not be inscribed as "Black preferential treatment." Affirmative Action legislation keeps impartiality alive.

Opposition to preferences and quotas by "angry White males," is a principle involved in the original civil rights laws that shot down the Jim Crow System. US laws and policies should subject every citizen to the same rules, judgments, and by the same standards.

Whites have always been preferred--especially White males. This country's Educational and Wisdom System of livelihood is all inclusive of European-American contexts. Day-to-day living is immersed in White cultural loading much like an infant loads a diaper. The loading has yielded a flawed American educational system. America places little faith in hard work and so much in native ability.

Seventy-one percent (71%) of all African-American children enrolled in the American public-school system are in special education programs. The grade point average of all Black children enrolled in the public-school system is 1.8--which is below a "C" average.

Approximately 40 percent of the children in America will be non-White. Non-White teachers, on the other hand, make up only 10 percent of the teaching force, and that number is falling. The Michigan Department of Education is offering "Schools of Choice" to school age children in the State. A child may attend any school within the boundaries of his Intermediate School District. The student takes the $5,700 Basic Allocation to the school district he wants to attend.

The bottom line of this planned scenario seems to apply only in urban areas where the school districts are majority Black. In out-state Michigan or out of the urban areas, the schools have a White population of students, and the school buildings are 25 - 75 miles apart.

Can you see parents transporting their child 75 miles one way to another school building to attend his "School of Choice?" Consequently, the only schools that are affected by "Schools of Choice"/and or "White Choice" are schools in the urban areas--or majority Black schools.

The system was set up by a Republican Controlled State Legislature to destroy Black school systems where administration and teachers are majority Black. It was designed to "nip in the bud" Black school districts that are getting too powerful by officially rubber-stamping the students as "inferior" and "high risk."

Michigan's Governor John Engler's takeover of the Detroit Public Schools was in 1999 and now Governor Rick Snyder both tried to reform Detroit Public Schools. Engler came into Detroit and appointed the Mayor as "overseer" of the Detroit System and threatened to remove the current Board of Education. Engler cited problems that plague Detroit's public schools is at a critical stage and must be fixed. At the same time Engler's school-reform proposals have sparked contentious debate. The debate has prompted residents of Detroit to raise issues of racial politics.

When voters of Detroit reminded the Governor that the officials were elected by popular vote and removing them would be a direct attack on the "Voting Rights Act," he decided to leave the Board in office until their terms expired. The ploy is not to improve the School System but to unseat "Black Power" of the City's school system. Engler is making sure that Blacks in a major city will have control over such a large financial budget.

Black parents often feel that their children can learn if they are seated near White children. The White children have an "aura of intelligence" surrounding them, their schools, and school districts. The "Choice" System also works in an opposite direction to give White students the chance to leave schools that have become majority Black and to attend schools with other children with whom they can identify.

White students who attend school in Detroit might want to attend schools in suburban districts where they will receive a better education. The "aura of intelligence" engulfs the White suburbs. "White Schools" are "Good Schools" and offer the best education.

Integration and desegregation are not synonymous. The equal protection clause prohibits purposeful racial segregation in public schools. But the clause does not mandate integration so that public schools reflect the racial composition of the surrounding community. Notice the wording. That is how the US gets away with modern day segregation.

Blacks want an alternative to schools they perceive as having failed their children. Hey! Only when surrounded by the intellectual aura of White children can Blacks succeed and be successful (Kirsanow, 6-A). The Government and local school districts provide unequal legal and financial support-- Maybe that's why Black parents want their children in predominately White schools because there is unequal not equal finance of the two school systems.

In Michigan, for instance, some Metropolitan Detroit Suburban school districts spend $12,000 per student annually. Most districts have just the Michigan State Basic Allocation to spend which amounts to $8,500 per student. Teachers in the suburbs of Detroit make $15,000 - $20,000 more in salary annually than teachers in the City. The inequality theory of separate but not equal seems to prevail in education in the State of Michigan. For a child to measure up to standards and reach for excellence, he must have textbooks and supplies. To meet the goals of the next century, a student should be exposed to computers and technological advances. Hey! Hey! Hey! That may be the "White aura of intelligence" scholars are talking about. Money to buy the basics is missing in some of the poorer districts.

Albinos--The Origin of the Caucasian Race?

Some theories equate Albinos with the origin of the Caucasian Race. This website has many validations for the origin of the Negroid Race, but what about the Caucasian Race? Certainly, Frances Wesling hit the nail on the head with her book, The Isis Papers (1991). The White Race has the genetic inability and absence of melanin to produce the different skin pigments seen throughout the world.

As new information comes down the pike, it is necessary to rethink theories that were once in place. The origin and labeling of the "so called" Caucasian, Negroid, and Mongoloid Races by 19th Century scientists, started racial groupings based on skin color by naturalists and anthropologists like Johann F. Blumenbach, JA Gobineau and HS Chamberlain. These men also equated skin color to psychological value and importance to race. Blumenbach named whites after the Caucasus Mountains because he thought the purest white people originated there. He didn't seem to realize the following:

Russia, Chechens, Armenians, and other Southern Russians are considered to have Black Negro origins and Caucasus Mountains people are classified as "black" and are discriminated against. Blacks have lived in Southern Russia since prehistoric times and have occupied the Black Sea Region since the time of Senwosret/Sesostris (2000 BC) when Africans dominated the region. (SEE 'HERODOTUS' ON THE COLCHIANS).

FROM AFRICA – NOT TO AFRICA!

Today the American Anthropological Association declares there is no such thing as race which is merely a “social construct.” If that is the new scientific principle, then....There are plenty of scientific facts to back up this principle. According to The South African Institute for Medical Research in review – Journal of South African Science, THE HIGH FREQUENCY OF ALBINISM IN AFRICA provides more clues to early African history. The Department of Human Genetics at the SAIMR is currently involved with numerous research projects, most related to human genetic disorders and population origins--one of these, ‘Albinism in African peoples’ having received particular attention because it offers new insights into the historical movement of peoples in sub-Saharan Africa.

The albinism syndrome shows parallels with sickle cell anemia. The carrier of the sickle cell mutation is at an advantage in regions where malaria is hyperendemic, which includes large areas of Africa.

About one in 35 southern African blacks is a carrier of an albinism mutation, a surprisingly high prevalence for a genetic disorder where the homozygote is at a survival disadvantage. It is postulated that the albinism carrier may be at an advantage, possibly also with malaria as the selective agent. It has been suggested that mosquitoes are less likely to alight and take blood from a lighter-skinned person and thus the albinism carrier may be at an advantage over darker-skinned people. The testing of this hypothesis is opening a new line of research into malaria studies, which may yet show some other selective agent may be responsible for the high frequency of albinism in Africa.

The new scientific genetic information derived from the Human Genome Project, an international effort to decode the information embedded in the human genome, confirmed to the world by scientists in the East Room of the White House (June 2000). We all evolved in the last 100,000 years from the same small number of tribes that migrated out of Africa and colonized the world". "All human beings are 99.99% the same at the DNA level and the remaining 0.1% genetic variation that exist seldom segregate in a manner that confirms to the racial boundaries constructed by social political means."

Many years before the Human Genome's Project announcement of its historical DNA findings on so called "race" (in June of 2000), historians have revealed that human beings, during the primitive era in ancient/antiquity Africa - The Origin of Humankind/Humanity states that due to the lack of knowledge about inbreeding (between closely related parents) they did not understand why their off spring were born with "white skin." Scientists say, "white skin" is a form of Albinism (a genetic defected offspring -- lacking melanin).

Cystic Fibrosis was thought to be a disease that affects mostly Europeans, but there are studies that now confirm that the most likely origin of the mutation is the African Continent.

The CF studies also tie-in with population migration investigations. Since the common African mutation has also been found in Zambia and Cameroun, it too supports the Bantu Expansion Hypothesis. It is worth noting that the mutation has also been found in African-Americans, in Saudi Arabia and in Greece on the same chromosome background (haplotype), suggesting a single origin. The most likely origin of the mutation is indeed the African Continent.

Cystic fibrosis (CF) was first described in Europe in the late 1930s. It was later shown to be surprisingly common with, on average, one in 20 individuals of European origin carrying a CF mutation. It was widely believed to be absent or very rare in Black Africans and was taught as such to generations of medical students. Only a handful of cases were described in African Blacks in a period of over thirty years, although it was well documented among African-Americans. CF was originally thought to be present in the latter because of admixture with individuals of European descent.

Oculocutaneous albinism (OCA) is a rare, genetically inherited condition passed on by both parents to their offspring, resulting in a significant reduction in or absence of pigmentation in the hair, skin, and eyes at birth. Individuals with albinism are very fair-skinned and fair-haired, with (most often) blue eyes that can take on tones of purple or red in bright lighting.

But due to such lack of knowledge as to why their "white skinned" off springs came about, African mothers and fathers became more and more fearful and suspicious and began to separate their growing number of "white skinned" off springs away from the "black skinned" (pigmented) population.

Eventually most of the "white skinned" off springs of "African" mothers and fathers formed several groups and began to migrate northward through Egypt to another area of Africa which is now called Europe, seeking a more hospitable living environment and to escape the intensity of the equatorial hot climate of the great river valleys and great lakes region of Central, Eastern and Southern Africa which was then and still is South of what is now called Egypt.

The "albino" group moved up in the mountainous area during the Ice Age or Glaciations period that lasted thousands of years further isolating themselves from their original parent population in Africa. And by being in such isolated living condition for such a prolonged period they also interbred (within the existing parent groups) thereby creating additional "albino" offspring from "albino" mothers and fathers who were then and still are direct descendants of African mothers and fathers.

A mutation results in a change of the DNA sequence within a gene or chromosome of an organism resulting in the creation of a new character or trait not found in the parental type. There is blonde hair among the black Australian aborigines. That is an example of a mutation. Albinism is a good example of a mutation. Other examples of mutations are blondism or whiteness among monkeys, apes, and chimpanzees.

Biblical Evidence of White Skin

There are many cases of individuals turning white in Jewish biblical history. When God wanted to show Moses a miracle, he turned his hand "white as snow;" then God turned his hand back again to its original color of black. In ancient Israel when a man had a white spot on his skin or white or yellow hair, or white skin somewhat reddish, he was pronounced unclean. All people who were victims of this shameful disease were isolated outside of the camp or city and segregated.

Some theories equate Albinos with the origin of the Caucasian Race. This website has many validations for the origin of the Negroid Race, but what about the Caucasian Race?

Certainly, Frances Cress Welsing hit the nail on the head with her book, The Isis Papers (1991).

The White Race has the genetic inability and absence of melanin to produce the different skin pigments seen throughout the world. That absence of skin pigment creates the inability to produce colors. As a result, uncolored or white skin is produced. White Race genes are at a recessive global juncture. Recessive genes delineate body characteristics that are masked or not expressed when a contrasting dominant black or brown gene or trait is present. The black/brown genes create people who have curly hair and whose skin is easily tanned.

As the recessive gene disappears, anthropologists are rushing to reclassify the world's Black and Brown Races. Through "Caucasian racial engineering" some Brown Races have become hypothetically "White." It has increased the White Race totals with a lopsided apportionment numbering system. The system has been designed to expand and extend White Race counts, which only amount to 8 percent worldwide (United Nations Population Division, 1+).

In "Echoes of the Old Darkland" by Charles Finch III, MD by a doctor of medicine (Yale) the following is quoted: "We propose that the ... population that survived the last glaciations in southwestern Eurasia was largely a group of albinoids who were better adapted to the ecology than their darker relatives who had originally colonized the area. These latter were gradually replaced by albinoids, though small groups of African aboriginal types long persisted on the North Atlantic seaboard because of the availability of Vitamin-D-rich salt-water fish. This "goodness-of-fit" of the albinoids in this northern environment was due to the more efficient Vitamin D production and utilization in the whitened skin in these sunlight-deficient latitudes and better cold resistance.

The Ice Age had the practical effect of isolating this marginal group from other populations for a prolonged period, promoting a consanguinity that would have allowed the recessive albinoid genes to express and propagate themselves. Creation of a new race via de-pigmentation is consistent with the tendency in nature of new species and subspecies to form out of marginal groups that have become isolated from their "parent" populations and subjected more or less abruptly to extreme environmental conditions, which generate intense selection pressure." (Op. cit. p. 35) Albinoid mutation seems as good a speculation since the fossil data and genetic data both seem to rule in favor of a common, Black African ancestry for all mankind.

People with Natural Blonde Hair are Disappearing and will be Extinct in 200 Years.

New research suggests that people with blonde hair will be completely extinct in 200 years. Blonde hair occurs only in people from northern Europe. The blonde gene that causes blonde hair color must be on both sides of the family, and according to the World Health Organization, there is now too few people who carry it.

Professor Jonathan Rees from Edinburgh University is leading a two-year study into the genetics of blondes. Scientists say blondes will survive longest in Scandinavia where they are most concentrated, and they predict the last one alive will be from Finland. (www.derm.med.ed.ac.uk)

Globally, the White Race risks "genetic color elimination." Caucasians /8 per centers are rapidly presenting the world with a conjured-up system of so-called "statistical numbers of non-truth" to implant new suppositions and beliefs. The non-truth firepower can deliver psyche-up, illusory gunfire amounting to numerical warheads on the target of more Caucasian deceit. The duplicity will end up fabricating a sort of actuality--statistical ballistic weaponry warfare to MAXIMIZE the dwindling White Race group numbers.

The original Indo-Europeans referred to, as Aryans were nomads who herded animals in the steppes north of the Black Sea, in what is now the Ukraine. Between 5,000 and 6,000 years ago, the Aryans migrated into Europe on horseback and conquered a series of cultures. The Encyclopedia Britannica concurs with British historians. When trying to trace pre-historic man to Europeans, it was found that Indo-Iranian languages make up a major branch of the Indo-European family of languages (Bower, 120+).

The Sinhalese Language is an Indo-European language of the Indo-Aryan family. The earliest surviving specimens of the language are brief inscriptions on rocks in Brahmi Letters from 200 BC. The most considerable amount of dated Aryan language dates to about AD 1000 (Encyclopedia Britannica, 567).

Linguistics link the Iranian language to African languages. Iranian languages include the Arabic language. Arabic belongs to the Semitic language group. Semitic includes Ethiopic and Hebrew--people who lived in one of Black Africa's greatest civilizations. The implication being made is the following: Caucasians cannot validate their rudiment White civilization. It has been proven that civilization started in the great river valleys of Africa in the Fertile Crescent. The human race was born in Africa, and it is only logical that the evolution of White men started in Africa.

The Encyclopedia Britannica outlines the lack of or absence of historical sources to trace the process of Swedish Expansion and the Viking Era around AD 400. The same is true for Denmark. It is written--The first trustworthy written evidence of a kingdom of Denmark belongs to the early Viking Period. Roman knowledge of this country was fragmentary and unreliable. The same is said for the other Scandinavian countries.

Currently, the Smithsonian Museum is inviting people to examine the Atlantic Saga of the well-known culture of the Scandinavian Viking Age (AD750-1050) as they discover America. They landed in Newfoundland, Canada exactly 1,000 years ago. It is being hailed as a "discovery." An endnote has been added that there is generous support from the Nordic Council and Ministers of Volvo.

The Caucasoid/8 per centers' numerical deficiency has created a sort of numerical abundance because White groups now have psychologically increased their numbers with the many different White classifications of: German White Race, English White Race, French White Race, and Russian White Race. This justifiably amounts to many White Races even though theoretically there has been a three-race theory staunchly in place since the 19th Century.

The same psychological numerology works to minimize black/brown groups and forms the White "labeled minority classifications" geneticists refer to when "feeling their oats on the genetic highway to a White majority." Dividing black/brown people into groups and referring to the groups as "non-white" or "people of color," presents a purely natural tendency to think of black/brown people as lesser because of the fewest number of numerical classifications. Therefore, Black and Brown people have become minorities in the mastermind scheme when the statistical numbers of abundant craftiness are presented globally.

From sea-to-shining-sea. History shows that discrimination in this country occurs in all races that are not considered Caucasian. Asians, for example, have experienced a long history of discrimination even though the Asian Race is coined as the "Prototype Minority" worthy enough to grace the White American dominion. In 1854 the California Supreme Court ruled that Chinese citizens were not permitted to testify against Whites. In 1882 the Chinese Exclusion Act banned all immigration from China.

In 1913, California declared Asians ineligible for citizenship and prohibited property ownership. In 1924 the National Origins Act excluded most Asians from migrating to the US. With the outbreak of World War II one hundred and ten thousand (110,000) Japanese Americans were relocated to internment camps. It was only in 1952 that Asians born outside the US were permitted to become citizens--but now have been termed the "ideal minority." Today most Blacks and Latinos continue to be subjected to extreme economic and social discrimination; whereas, most Asian Americans are not. Asian Americans have been labeled the "ideal minority."

King James invented "discrimination of the divine" when he and his team of 47 European interpreters translated the King James Version of The Holy Bible. Purity, virtue, and goodness spew from every pictorial page of White European Biblical characters. The Bible reveals a blue-eyed White Jesus hanging on a cross, a golden-haired White Moses showing the "Tablets of Law to the People," and praying at Mt. Sinai upon every turn of a page.

I am King James, and I proclaim "Ham, the youngest son of Noah, to be the father of the Black Race."

Ham is the father of the Black Race because he was cursed and "condemned to Hell" states King James and his team of European Interpreters. In Gen. 9:18-29 Ham is the recipient of a curse--"Let Canaan be cursed."

Hey, that means Canaanites were Black. What do ya know!!! Berber describes the indigenous Caucasoid people of Northern Africa in the scholarly White dictionary and encyclopedia, but Berber is defined as people who speak Hammitic/Semitic Languages. Hey, does that mean Berbers were Black? The Cushite (Ethiopian) and ancient Egyptian also spoke Semitic Languages.

Ham--the Originator of the Black Race "the accursed" and all of his descendants will be damned. Eurocentric church officials developed a mind-set of "heathen Blacks" to devise and formulate deceptive historical attitudes and viewpoints.

The Aryan Nation believes its group does the on-going work of Jesus the Christ in re-gathering His people, calling His people to a state for their nation to ring in His Kingdom. The Aryan Nation believes that Adam, man of Genesis, is the placing of the White Race upon this Earth. Not all races descend from Adam. Adam is the father of the White Race only. (Adam in the original Hebrew language is translated: "to show blood in the face; turn rosy." Genesis 5:1).

The Book of Enoch Hamitic/Ethiopic Authorship: The Book of Enoch--which is the earliest biblical record of antiquity and the earliest book of Hamitic authorship is widely quoted throughout the King James Version of the Bible. The Book of Enoch was found among the Dead Sea Scrolls in the caves of the Qumran. Enoch was Noah's grandfather and Methuselah's father. Methuselah was the oldest man in the Bible living to be 969.

After reading the Book of Enoch, it is evident that the entire Creation of Heaven and Earth depicted by King James and his translators has not been taught in America's churches. Why? Did King James and his translators use manipulatives to gain control and purposely hide Hamitic/Ethiopic authorship? If this book was written before the book of Genesis, and is Hamitic--aren't we back-to-Black? Webster's Warped Dictionary verifies that Ham was the Originator of the Black Race. (Brown, Ronald K. BOOK OF ENOCH, San Antonio, Texas 78210).

Black Brazilian Parents have three Albino Children

According to the Enoch--one of the Lost Books of the Bible, there were a Race of Angels numbering 200 who were sent to Earth to watch over mankind. The "Watchers" looked upon the women of the Earth and found them fair and pleasing to the eye. The women gave birth to what is known as (Nephilims)

Giants of the Earth. The Book of Enoch comprises the following topics:

Second Coming of Jesus Christ and Judgment

Skills and Knowledge
Taught by the Fallen
Angels

Children of Angels to be destroyed

Disobedient Angels
Incarcerated Till Judgment
Day

Prophecy of A New Heaven and A New Earth

MESSIANIC REVELATIONS

PROPHECIES OF THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD

GOD Promises to Dwell with the Saints

The King James Version of the Bible starts with Genesis and the creation of Heaven and Earth. In Genesis 4:15 God orders Cain out of the Garden of Eden. Cain goes out from the presence of the LORD, and dwells in the land of Nod, on the East of Eden. There he knew his wife and conceived. "The Land of Nod" appears right there in the Fourth Chapter of Genesis. If Adam and Eve were the first two people on earth, what was the Land of Nod? The word "Genesis" is berasheet in Hebrew, an African/Edenic language that Western philologists in the 18th Century classified as part of the family of languages. Be-rasheet means "in the beginning" in a time when God created all things. (African Heritage Bible, 1).

Leprosy among the Hebrews and Snow White Miriam

In 14th century B.C., plagues were endemic through the Middle East and Egypt. The Book of Numbers tells us that Miriam and Aaron, sister and brother to Moses, revolted against their brother's leadership. Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because he had married an Ethiopian woman. And they said, Hath the Lord indeed spoken only to Moses? Hath eh not spoken also by us?" Their challenge to Moses angered God. As a punishment "Miriam became leprous, white as snow" (Greenberg, 197).

The original man can be linked directly to the "Neanderthal" and "Cro-Magnon" Man 10,000 years ago through archeological measurements in size and stature to the Bushmen-Hottentot population of South Africa. Any US or European research book or encyclopedia show the reader a White man who is half man and half animal. Charles Darwin (Mr. Charlie) and other evolutionists would rather have the world believe man evolved from apes than from a Black man.

As Europeans were busy labeling the entire Black Race as cursed and accursed, a fair-haired English physicist came up with the color spectrum in 1666 that disputes the "White European Hamitic Theory." The theory clearly denotes that if Noah and his wife were Caucasoid, it would have been impossible to produce three different races of people. The Keys to the Colors Theory was proven by Newton over 300 years ago, but Warped Webster's Dictionary still defines Ham as the "Father of the Black Race."

Reference books will tell you the majestic Sir Isaac Newton was credited with the discovery of the color spectrum. The theory presents solid proof that black is the foundation or base for all colors. Newton was the celebrated White English physicist who took a glass prism and passed a beam of sunlight through it. When the light passed through the prism, it formed a rainbow he later called the color spectrum.

By mixing the three primary colors of red, blue, and yellow together, the color black is produced. Black is the color from which all other colors are produced and is dominant. White, on the other hand, is the color of maximal lightness from which no other colors can be produced and is recessive. Just because white reflects all colors does not mean it is possible to get all colors from white. A little every day thing like the exalted Sir Isaac Newton's so-called discovery of the color spectrum shows more validity as it points to an African origin than the many years of research and long drawn out scientific theories to disparage and dismiss Black culture and history.

While scientists interpret, record, and test their theories, all they need is a small box of Crayola Crayons containing three crayons and a sheet of paper to prove the Keys to the colors.

Albinos occur in all races of mankind and in all animal groups. The albionotic condition arises from a distinct hereditary interference with the normal function of melanocytes. The enzyme tyrosinase is necessary for the formation of melanin and determines the color of the skin, hair, and eyes. Most children with albinism are born to parents who have normal hair and eye color for their ethnic backgrounds.

White skin is a form of albinism. There is no difference, microscopically speaking, between the white skin of a Caucasoid person and the skin of a person designated as an Albino. Black people with albinism tend to have hair of a deep bright yellow, cream-colored skin, and green or hazel eyes. The social problems of Blacks are compounded if a child is born and is an Albino. In the Caucasian Race blonde hair, blue eyes, and alabaster skin are considered so highly desirable that brunettes often bleach their hair or wear colored contacts to look like Albinos.

One of the most glorious periods of English History was that of the reign of Queen Victoria (1819-1901). The Victorians wore white wigs and powdered their skin to a chalky white probably in awe of their ancestors. Similarly, the powdered white wig worn by American colonial era illuminati reflected the wearer's ability to afford luxury items and identified him as one of the educated elite.

In Biblical times people with albinism were banished or thrown out, and forced to live in colonies just as people with leprosy or Hansen's disease were forced to live in leper colonies and away from other people. The Black Race believed that God was delivering judgment on a family with albinism and that the individual with albinism is cursed or is the embodiment of sin.

White-skinned people came into existence thousands of years ago as the Albino mutant offspring of black-skinned mothers and fathers in Africa. A sizable number of these Black parents produced, rejected and then cast out of the community their genetic defective albino offspring to live away from the normal black skin-pigmented population. There were colonies of albinos formed which eventually migrated northward to Europe, to escape the intensity of the equatorial sun of the Southern hemisphere (Welsing, 23).

During Biblical Times, Albinos were ostracized. The same thing is happening today when Albinism occurs in society. Albinos are ostracized by their own families--especially in Black families where the difference in skin color is more distinct. The ostracizing of Albinos during Biblical times is the only logical explanation of how the White Race came into existence. The Albino colonies produced more and more Albinos until there was an Albino Race.

The Finnish, Swedish, and Danish people are "as White as pure driven snow" with blonde hair that is almost White. The two groups of people show a strong evidence they were part of the composition of the Albinic/White Race that moved northward. White European geneticists that the union of two albinos will produce children that are affected with albinism have validated it. The parents of albinos are often consanguineous since it increases the likelihood that both will possess the same gene. The Albino condition creates an extreme sensitivity of eyes and skin to the sunlight.

There was a migration of the African Albinos northward to what the world recognizes as Europe. During Biblical times Europe was part of Africa. Europeans themselves designated and divided Africa into the regions of the "Middle East" and "Europe."

Skin color is determined by melanin. The large molecule of the pigment melanin is formed in the skin cells from a much smaller molecule called tyrosine. Tyrosine is colorless and is present in all cells. In the skin cells of most human beings there is at least one gene whose job is to manufacture tyrosine. If the gene is of a type that can form considerable quantities of tyrosinase, the skin cell is like a well-staffed factory.

Considerable quantities of melanin are formed, and the person possessing that gene has dark-brown skin, black hair, and dark-brown eyes. If the gene were a type that manufactured only a small amount of tyrosinase, the reverse would be true. Little melanin would be formed, and the person would have fair skin, light hair, and light eyes.

An Albino's genes do not form tyrosinase at all. No tyrosinase occurs in their cells and no melanin can be formed. Such people have very fair skin, white hair, and no pigment at all in their eyes. The eyes look reddish because small blood vessels can be seen through the transparent colorless iris of the eye (Boyd & Asimov, 72).

The Scandinavian countries Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, and Finland make up the Nordic people. Nordic traits include long slim bodies, long oval faces, White alabaster skin, straight blond hair, and blue or gray eyes. Nordic people have thick yellow-white eyebrows, and facial hair. The Nordic traits clearly distinguish and identify Albino traits or vice versa--take your pick.

White Want-A-Bees and Black Seditivity

(The Promised Land--The Whiteland)

The US has cultivated and practiced the psychosocial fear of blackness and self-hatred; thus, creating a color social stratification. It has resulted in the desire or aspiration for Blacks wanting to "whiten" themselves.

The United States has turned itself into a racial spoils system because of its legal classificatory bi-racial system. Historically, individuals in the US have either been Black or White. The US has cultivated and practiced Negrophobia or a psychosocial fear of blackness; thus, creating a color social stratification. It has resulted in the desire or aspiration for Blacks wanting to "whiten" themselves.

Just the fact that law must administer civil rights programs proves there is a psychosocial fear of non-White people. Any formal attempt through law or administrative practice to enforce anti-discrimination measures automatically requires the identification of a category of people. In the US non-Whites are the ones to be protected and/or ejected (placed on the back seat) by legislation.

This Negroid Phobia that both Black and White Americans have about Black Americans was skillfully constructed in a systematic way to provide Blacks with a dysfunctional culture. No wonder Black Americans want to escape to pseudo Whiteness and/or multiculturalism.

Politics in the US have made Italians, Arabs, Indians, and Puerto Ricans White. The Jews are suddenly White. Government policies after World War II led to Jews being considered a shade of White.

White government policies will lead to the consideration of light-skinned Blacks to be a shade of White and/or multiracial. The 47 European translators of the King James Bible documented a direct link to the origin of mankind with the creation of White Jews.

The origin of the Jews can be traced back to the Patriarch Black Abraham. Black Abraham's descendants were a tribe in the land of Canaan/Palestine-- (The land of burnt face people. The land of Cush (Kush)--meaning Black i.e. our modern-day country of Ethiopia/Aithiops). Even today the Ethiopians are sometimes called Cushi. A famine made it necessary for Black Jews to move down to Black Egypt and/or Kemet where Black Joseph welcomed them, who was viceroy at the time.

After the Black Jews had lived in Black Egypt (Kemet) for many years, they were made slaves. Africa (Kemet--meaning "Black") (which is of Latin origin named by European explores) included much of what European maps have termed "Middle East." The "Middle East" before World War II was known as Northeast Africa.

During the Old Testament, Africa was called "The Land of Ham/Land of the Blacks." Black Moses led the Jews out of Black Egypt in a journey through the Sinai Desert that lasted 40 years.

About 1000 BC, the 12 Jewish tribes settled in Palestine or the "Promised Land." Black Saul was crowned the first king. Black David of the Tribe of Judah succeeded him.

Black David's son, Black Solomon, was the next king who was famous for his wisdom. His BLACK color is documented by the European King James version of the Bible. "I am Black, but comely, O ye daughters of Jerusalem. (Song of Solomon, Chapter 1, Verse 5).

King Black Solomon built the Great Temple in Jerusalem, the religious center of the Black Jews. The Jews organized a revolt in AD 135. They were driven from Jerusalem and ordered never to return. This marked the beginning of the Diaspora, or Dispersion--the scattering of Black Jewish people into the farthest corners of the world.

Many Black Jews settled in Europe in the early centuries of the Christian era and were welcomed in many European countries. Currently, there are twice as many Jews in the United States than in Israel (Palestine). Before World War II large numbers of Jews fled from Austria-Hungary, Germany, and Russia and settled in the United States. The European admixture created White Jews with kinky hair. The US welcomed the kinky haired Jews as White people with open arms.

The Aryan Nation believes Canaanite Jews--descendants of Cain are like a destroying virus that attacks their racial body to destroy the Aryan culture and the purity of the White Race because originally, they weren't White. Genesis 3:15 and John 3:12.

It has also been documented that the countries of Spain, Southern Italy, and Greece were invaded and conquered by the Moors--/Sudan /Cushites /Edenites /Ethiopians /Abyssinians), but these Europeans are considered Caucasian.

Europeans created the word "Semitic" and the geographical designation "Middle East" during the 19th Century. The word "Arab" does not refer to Arabians, but to any group that speaks the Arabic language. Arabic belongs to the Semitic language group. Semitic includes Ethiopic and Hebrew--People who lived in the middle of one of Black Africa's greatest civilizations.

Semitic is defined by Webster as a member of ancient and modern peoples speaking any of the Semitic languages including--the Hebrews, Phoenicians, Assyrians--modern day Arabs and Jews representing the descendants of the "Burnt Face" people or Cushites--Black Noah, his Black wife, and his oldest Black Son--Ham. In some instances, Webster has constructed and reconstructed word definitions to fit the schematic plan. Today the Semitic languages are spoken throughout North Africa and Southwestern Asia.

Speaking of Color: An infomercial shown on cablevision sells a wristwatch that illuminates the 12 skin shades of African-Americans. The infomercial alludes to Caucasians having four skin shades. There is an "opposing directional scenario" at work to turn things around. Blacks are obsessed with changing hair color, eye color, and skin color.

Psychologically, through imitation and identification we have been trained to be "White like" even if it means the denial of your own mother and father to escape into the White world that has whored Brown and Black people.

We suffer from a "slavery whored Black ignorance." Our biggest aim is to get to Whiteland. Black men are teaming up like whoremongers to help a White nation turn Blacks into the new multiracial pseudo White Race. In the United States the Black race is a manufactured race with actions like "well trained domesticated animals" unless this entire nation becomes a "shade of White."

Good Example: Before J A Rogers wrote the book We Have Already Had 5 Black Presidents, the Author's African-American family history documented President Warren G. Harding, the 29th President of the U. S (1921-23) part of the Author's lineage and direct descendent.

His father George Tyron Harding (1791-1860) was a Black West Indian born in Otisville, New York and later moved to Morrow County, Ohio. Before he was elected president, he was a teacher in a "Colored" school because it would have been unheard of to have a "Colored" man teaching White children.

In the Encyclopedias, Harding's father is listed as George T. Harding. Listing his father by the initial "T" rather than his full middle name--Tyron would make it harder to trace his Black father.

The Author's grandmother on her father's side was the daughter of Ada Jane Harding a brother to George. Her Grandmother Emma Norman, daughter of Joseph Dow and Mary Harding-Norman, was an African-American for 83 years of her life on this earth. Just as our US Government could not portray Warren G. Harding--the 29th President of the United States (1921-1923) as a Black man, neither can many others accept being Negroid.

Many people in the entertainment field are in a state of Black denial--Tiger Woods, Paula Abdul, Michael Jackson, and Prince--just to name a few. There are probably thousands of others who have problems in accepting their Black ethnicity. By flashing: "What Color is Black???" before Blacks who are sucking on white sponges has resulted in the direct effort to "project a fantasy/reality" about being decorated as White.

Even though our shackles have been removed, we have been so brainwashed that we run in the direction of the Mass Media Master that asks us: "What Color is Black?" It has resulted in the direct breakdown of the Black identification system. The White man wants to become the victor breaking down the Black classificatory system. After many years of wrote indoctrination, White Want-a-bees has become the norm.

Initially, White super humanism was formed because the European/Caucasian conqueror's psyche had to find realistic ways to meet needs and avoid trouble caused by selfish and aggressive behavior. The intent of White superiority has been to help the Caucasian psyche fulfill its needs and has balanced its desires against the restrictions of reality.

Modern day racism takes the form of symbolic prejudice (sometimes called "modern prejudice"--Brewer & Kramer 1985). The modern prejudice is disguised prejudice that does more outright harm than blatant prejudice.

Many people realize that crude and obvious racism is socially unacceptable. It may not stop the general public from expressing prejudice in disguised forms when they give their opinions on issues such as affirmative action programs, busing, welfare programs, and crime.

Brewer & Kramer (1985) discovered that stereotypes held by their subjects tend to be unusually irrational. When given a list of negative statements about other ethnic groups, prejudice individuals agree with most of them. They often agree with conflicting statements.

Thus, a prejudiced person may say that Jews are "pushy" and "standoffish" or that Blacks are both "ignorant" and "sly." Blacks can blame the media for depicting and helping to instill ideas of prejudice.

The same people that work for the National broadcast networks, radios, newspapers, and magazines live in the same metropolitan areas in which you live. They are merely transferring their own personal views. Mass media helps project prejudicial views of the general public in disguised forms. It is up to the reader to decipher what is printed in black and white.

The following was an experiment done in the early 1970's to offer psychologists insight into stereotypes and inter-group tensions. Isn't it comical that the experiment had to be done between two groups of White children to surmise what has been going on for hundreds of years between Black and White groups of people??? Centuries of outright discriminatory practices have caused desolation and anguish. The following is quite an entertaining gesture of what goes on in everyday America:

Peters (1971) did an experiment in prejudice dividing children into two groups according to eye color. On the first day of the experiment, researcher, Jane Elliot announced that brown-eyed children were to sit in the back of the room. They could not use the drinking fountain. Blue-eyed children were given extra recess time and got to leave first for lunch.

At lunch the brown-eyed children were prevented from taking second helpings because they would "just waste it." Brown-eyed and blue-eyed children were kept from mingling, and the blue-eyed children were told they were "cleaner" and "smarter."

At first Elliot had to maintain the imposed conditions of prejudice. She made an effort to constantly criticize and belittle the brown-eyed children. In a short time, it became natural for the blue-eyed children to practice prejudice. We have been living the very same experiment since the 1600's. Ms. Elliot may have had to prove it to her counterparts, but non-White Races are living it day-to-day.

To her surprise--To her surprise the blue-eyed children rapidly joined in and were soon outdoing her in the viciousness of their attacks. The blue-eyed children began to feel superior, and the brown-eyed children felt awful. Fights broke out among the children. Test scores of the brown-eyed children fell.

It is okay for a few Black people to move into a neighborhood. Once the neighborhood becomes 50 percent Black in color, there is White flight because Whites have lost their basis or means of identification. The same thing occurs when a school district becomes majority Black.

What happens to the White teachers left behind who have high employment seniority and cannot go to another school district with the same salary? The Author has done some research of her own. It is interesting to watch people who have been wearing a superiority crown on their heads most of their White lives and suddenly find their racist views struck down and power taken away.

At faculty meetings in the Author's school district, there are constant disputes over White dominance regarding school committees, activities, rules and regulations. White teachers grumble, complain, blow up and fiercely threaten others of what will happen if things aren't done their way. Their way is the right way. There is a constant dispute over territory that was traditionally White dominated. To lose one's prevalence must be hard.

There is no doubt that human learning includes a large cognitive or mental dimension. As humans, Whites have always been greatly affected by information that has placed them as the originators and masterminds who are always in first place. Therefore, their expectations, perceptions, and mental images can only include them being in charge.

To buckle under to a situation where Caucasians are no longer the racial majority is somehow not possible. An overall Caucasian mental picture of how things should be or were prescribed to be is always present. Whites will detour or take a new route to recapture that jurisdiction of majority White cultural and physical surroundings.

A person constantly develops a road map of life. If the life highways on the map go off course, people react through aggression by attacking whomever or whatever else is around to bring things back into Caucasian perspective.

Blacks are targets of displaced aggression. Examples of displaced aggression occur when unemployment increases, so does child abuse. A pattern known as scapegoat is particularly damaging. A scapegoat is a person or thing that has become a habitual target for displaced aggression. Between 1880 and 1930 there was a strong correlation between the price of cotton and the number of lynching of Blacks in the South. As the price of cotton went down, frustration increased, and the number of lynching increased.

Daily we see some Blacks wanting to cross the color line physically and mentally. The book The Bell Curve: Intelligence and Class Structure in American Life by Richard J. Herrnstein and Charles Murray published in 1994 helped to reinforce attitudes and beliefs of racial and ethnic differences by the US White brotherhood and keep "learned Helplessness" alive.

Herrnstein and Murray advocate that the median IQ score for Negroid Africans is about 75. The scores are about 10 points lower than the current figure for American Blacks.

The IQ of 'Coloureds' in South Africa has been found to be similar to that of American Blacks. The implication is clear. The admixture of Caucasian and African genes, both in South Africa and in the US, boosts 'Coloureds' IQ 10 points above that of native Africans. Genetics explain the Black-White differences in intelligence; therefore, being part-White accounts for more intelligence. The authors advocate that US Blacks are more intelligent than native Africans because US Blacks have the admixture of Caucasian blood.

They also maintain that low IQ causes poverty. Children of day laborers are less likely than the children of stockbrokers to acquire fortunes or go to college. They are more likely to be delinquent, to receive welfare, to have children outside of marriage, to be unemployed and to have low-birth-weight babies.

Children of the poor, like their laborer parents before them were born with poor genes. Low IQ workers in minimum wage jobs have little incentive to remain in the labor force. Dull young women lack the foresight and intelligence to understand that the welfare system offers them a bad deal. The result is Welfare Queens driving Cadillac's. People who have low IQ's commit crimes because they lack foresight. For that reason, prison does not defer them. They cannot understand why robbing someone is wrong.

Psychologically, Black Americans are given three alternatives to the frustration package presented to them. One is to escape or withdraw into the white Race and become an "imitation White person," "Black radical," or to follow the trail of "learned helplessness." A person may try to escape the bafflement presented by crossing the color line. The escape involves leaving the source of frustration physically and/or psychologically.

As the Black to White transition phase becomes more powerful, blacks want more and more to identify with White imitations. Both Blacks and Whites contribute to the frustration by always presenting the question, "What color is Black?" Blacks feel they will be more successful in gaining satisfaction from Whiteland. Blacks have been second-class citizens so long; it may be the last chance to become "White." Blacks will become part of the schematic plan to increase White numbers.

Even the Aryan Nation believes that extinction of the White Race is a very real danger. Read their paper Focus 14 or The Watchman published by CPC in Hereford, PA. Caucasians have been backed into a corner like White Albino Rats.

Conclusion

Negrophobia is a fear of Black people that persists in the minds of Whites and some Blacks when no realistic danger exists. Usually phobias are reactions to conditioned emotional responses. Negrophobia was initially indoctrinated and instilled by slave owners and currently by all forms of mass media.

Most psychology textbooks have a chapter devoted to "maladaptive behavior." A large variety of emotional problems fall into the general category of psychopathology. Maladjusted behavior is defined as the inability to behave in ways that foster the well-being of the individual and ultimately to society.

"Maladaptive behavior" is grouped into large categories comprising behaviors associated with drug addiction, compulsive gambling, and loss of contact with reality. It also includes any behavior that interferes with personal growth and self-fulfillment like mood and anxiety disorders.

Negrophobia is a fear of Black people that persists in the minds of Whites and some Blacks when no realistic danger exists. Usually phobias are reactions to conditioned emotional responses. Negrophobia was initially indoctrinated and instilled by slave owners and currently by all forms of mass media. At the time of its inception Negrophobia was probably not considered abnormal behavior but accepted as therapeutic alliance to protect the White brotherhood?

Just the fact that civil rights programs must be administered by US law and amended to our Constitution proves there is a psycho-social fear of non-White people. Any formal attempt through law or administrative practice to enforce anti-discrimination laws for a category of people proves discrimination is alive and well. In this country, the people to be protected and/or ejected (placed on the back seat) by legislation have been non-Whites.

Negrophobia was created as a result of the "White cleansing process" to teach basic values and views of the world and to prepare individuals for their place, habitat, and territorial turf in a dominated Caucasian mind-set and/or culture. There is a Negrophobic "thought form" staunchly in place.

Self-image and self-evaluation went through the basic processes of development during slavery. White children were nurtured and molded to become musicians, writers, lawyers, politicians and doctors in the 1600's. Black children were nurtured and molded to become matriarchal baby producers and career slaves.

Seeping through the cracks from the era of slavery is the wondrous White Race stronghold mind-set at one end of the geometric plane. At the other end of the plane lies a spontaneous Negrophobic stronghold on both Black and White people that is considered "normal" behavior. In other words, Whites have not rehearsed the fear they feel for Blacks. Blacks are also afraid of other Blacks because of the stronghold unrehearsed thought process firmly established.

When the word "supremacy" is mentioned, people often think of the Ku Klux Klan. Definitions for the word "supremacy" are merely exquisite, perfect, total, ultimate, and beautiful--All which Whites perceive themselves and all of which some Blacks perceive Whites.

Most Whites believe that racism does not exist and cannot understand why Blacks must always mention the topic R - A - C - I - S - M. Since racism does not exist, Black folks should stop using the term because non-White ethnic groups to make excuses for laziness, ignorance, and inferiority use the word racism.

White faces and images have been superimposed verbally and visually by mass media to mean higher in quality and merit. See the show, and the entire race is the same. Everywhere a person looks in this country, there are visual images of White people--from the average White Americans, to the President and God himself.

Peer groups are the most important people in an individual's life. White peer group orientation includes conformity to the ideas and judgments of that group--whether it is peer influence or parent influence. People adopt the values, attitudes, style of dress, and language of their parents and peers. For that reason, the "White cleansing process" has been the surmount force and is staunchly in place and embedded into our society.
