Archaeology Day

Highlighting Indigenous Archaeology

Indigenous archaeology is a modern form of archaeological work that uses indigenous knowledge, values, and cultural understandings to work with and preserve heritage. This form of archaeology seeks to better the role and connection of descendant communities within archaeology and their heritage sites.

Join us as we hear presentations from indigenous archaeologists about their role with archaeology and their tribal communities. Talks starting at 12pm & 1pm

August 17th, 11am-3pm
