HAKU (HELLO)

The Chumash Indian Museum offers insight and education into the culture and history of the Chumash people of California, and an opportunity to explore and appreciate the magnificent oak groves and mountains of this jewel of Southern California. Oakbrook Park is a state-designated archaeological site and a prime example of the rich land where Chumash flourished for generations.

The Chumash Indian Museum offers a rich selection of programs including Guided Nature Hikes, Lecture Series, Workshops, and Events with hands on demonstrations and activities for all ages.

Our museum store offers gifts, books, Chumash inspired jewelry and arts & crafts.

Your membership helps fund the preservation of existing exhibits and the addition of new exhibits, educational programs, and events for the museum. All members will receive a newsletter twice a year about museum projects, programs and events.
