Dr. Steve Co-authors Chapter About Camp in International Publication

The Routledge International Handbook of Outdoor Studies is a resource for students, teachers, university faculties and outdoor professionals from one the world's leading academic publishers. It holds a first of its kind ground breaking chapter devoted exclusively to summer camp programmes and camp research from around the world.:

The Camp Experience: Learning through the outdoors, is written by camp research specialists Dr. Stephen Fine and Dr. Deb Bialeschki, along with Troy Bennett graduate assistant for the American Camp Association. The chapter provides a context for exploring the value of the camp experience by highlighting key research and organized camping's contributions to outdoor learning, innovative ideas and youth development along with current issues and directions for the future. See the link below if you're interested in exploring the contents of the book or if you are interested in ordering a copy.

Fine Stein Winner for 2015 Maddi Murray

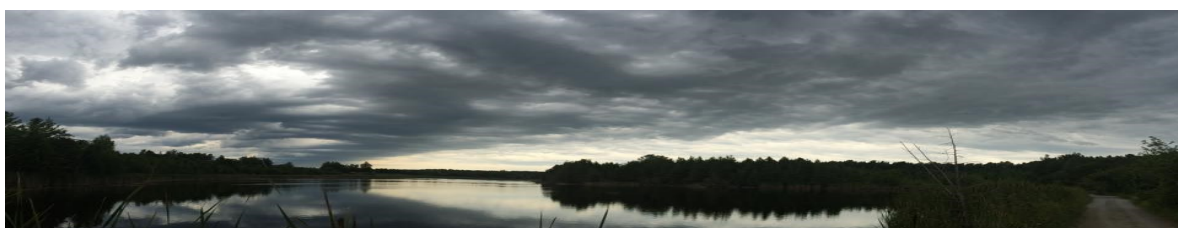

Each summer we award the Fine Stein to the counsellor who has made an outstanding contribution to our camp. It is always an incredibly difficult decision to make. What a wonderful staff we had last summer! For summer 2015 we chose Madeline Murray. We thought it would be fun to have the winner from 2014 present the award. Emilie presented the Stein and a big smile crossed her face when she read the engraved name and made the announcement.

Maddi and her brother Andrew were campers for many years and both joined our counsellor staff. Campers know Maddi cares about them and that they can always count on her. And wow, can she ever run along side a pony, take great pictures, promote potato salad and much more.

The gym gets a well needed makeover

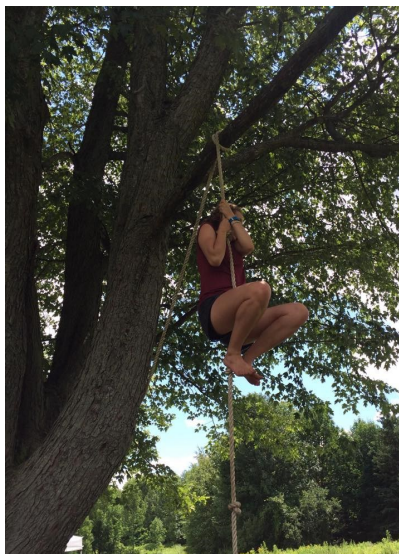

During the fall we had very warm temperatures which carried on right up to the days immediately before Christmas. This gave us the opportunity to carry on with the regular maintenance and upkeep of the activity areas. This year the gym got a makeover. Here Maddi and Vicki get out the paint pots and apply a fresh clean look. And Hey! Check out the new windows!
