

To Whom it May Concern,

RE: South Burnett First Aid Volunteers

It is with great pleasure I write in support of South Burnett First Aid Volunteers, a group of highly trained medics volunteering their time to support the community.

The South Burnett First Aid Volunteers is a not-for-profit organisation established in 2016. In this short time, they have built a strong membership base of highly motivated and experienced volunteers who provide first aid services to community events across the South Burnett in regional Queensland.

They have built a professional reputation, attending events such as campdrafts, Shows, rodeos, school fetes, athletic carnivals, the speedway and much more. The services provided by the South Burnett First Aid Volunteers are essential to ensure events such as these are able to proceed. Local groups are able to conduct their events, safe in the knowledge that their duty of care will be competently handled by the first aid volunteers.

This is an excellent initiative which I am pleased to support. If I can be of any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact my office on 4190 7100.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Deb Frecklington'.

Deb Frecklington MP
Member for Nanango

