

The Gleason Ranch, a landmark in Touchet, Washington, is rich in history. Brad and Karen purchased the land after they were married and moved from Montana.

Brad, a 2x National Finals Rodeo qualifier, won the World in Steer Wrestling in 1997, has made his living in the horse and cattle business his entire life.

Karen, a professional barrel racer and trainer, prides herself in building a blood stock worthy of champion titles in several disciplines.

The Gleasons' purchased JD Look and has since produced foals with brood mares that have blood lines sought after in the entire equine industry. Bloodlines include Dash Ta Fame, Beduino, Strawfly Special, Rocket Wrangler and Go Man Go.

JD's offspring has taken the AQHA Race Track and the Rodeo arena by storm.

The Gleasons' staked their claim in the Northwest Cattle Industry, and the rest is history. Driving pairs through the hills of 9 Mile, they pride themselves in raising a quality product.

And what is a cattle operation without a team of good cattle dogs? Not much. The Gleasons' take the best cow working dogs and breed them for the success of working big herds with ease.

The bottom line is...Brad and Karen provide some of the best horses, cattle, and dogs the Northwest and beyond has ever seen.
