Presidents Message – Brett Robinson

Sorry no article this month...check back next month.

But a little did you know tidbit!

On Monday, June 11, Cold Springs was pleased to host the first “Windows to My Soul” fund-raiser golf tournament. The event was organized by Bob Ackley. “Windows to My Soul” is a center for equine assisted psychotherapy and personal development offering services to individuals and their families who have suffered trauma, including veterans, active military, cancer survivors, domestic violence survivors and individuals with developmental disabilities.

This is a place where they can build the relationship, emotional and mental health skills necessary to live a connected, empowered and purpose-filled life.

It is our hope that this relationship and tournament continues to grow over time.

From the Bar & Kitchen - Jen Bement

Hello everyone

The kitchen will be serving breakfast from 8-10 a.m. on July 4th and grilling $5 brats with all the fixing and chips on the patio starting at 10:30.

On Friday, July 6, we are featuring the Dan Jaurequi Band for music on the green from 6-9 p.m. He is great so if you missed him last year you should definitely make sure to catch his show this year.

We will be serving Philly cheese steak sandwiches for $5 and as always something cold to drink from the bar.

Remember the bar is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. We open at 10 a.m. on Mondays. We look forward to serving you a nice, cold drink. The kitchen is open Tuesday – Sunday, 8 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Hope everyone is enjoying their summer.

Greetings all.

Let's talk water and why Cold Springs is wet even in the summer?

The temperatures are close to or do hit the triple digits and some might wonder why the course is often more wet in the summer than it is during the winter. I often get this question, and so here goes my best explanation ...

Think of the course like a sponge that soaks up as much water as it can until it is saturated and must release the excess. Where this water goes is the next step. It should leech into drain pipes and eventually into a pond, lake or stream. In some cases this does take place, but often the water drains on the surface since many of our drain pipes are broken and beyond repair.

One example is the No. 4 fairway. Water drains down the hill and from our neighbors' property to create a wet summer mess. We do have these issues on our list of things to fix but it will just take some time.

Now back to the water. If you fill a cup of water a little higher than the rim, you see that the water is actually higher than the rim. This is called water tension. It may have a longer more descriptive name scientifically but I digress.

Water molecules want to hang onto or cling to other water molecules. To combat this on the greens and to help with disease prevention, we are punching the greens more frequently and using smaller holes. This helps in several areas and will keep the greens in better shape over the long haul.

Hope that explanation helps.

Now for some free stuff. Have you noticed that we were gifted with a pretty big pile of free wood chips. The pile(s) are located just along the driving range and if you want some good ground cover, its first come first serve. Take as much as you would like.

We got this from one of our member's son-in-law and we will use it to spruce up the place for the next year or two.

That's all for now. See you in the fairway!

“Putting Tips”

More than 40 percent of strokes in a round of golf are made when putting so if you haven't established a consistent technique and routine then you'll find it tough to improve your scoring.

During my time at the Haggin Oaks Golf Complex, I had the pleasure of conducting the majority of the putter fittings on the state of the art SAM (Science and Motion) putter fittings system which uses doppler radar technology.

I found that if you take the time to practice your pre-shot routine, establish a consistent ball-striking technique off the sweet spot and are fit properly for your putter, you will make more putts in the long run.

But first, here are a few putting tips to work on to eradicate those nasty three-putts and bring your scores and handicap tumbling.

Routine procedure

Establishing an identical pre-shot routine is essential. Check the line (ideally while others are putting out but not in their eye-line), address slightly away from the ball, check your alignment, practice swinging to get the feel of the pace and shuffle forward to the ball. Take one look then pull the trigger smoothly back and through, which is even more vital on the long putts as a poor motion will leave you in three-putt territory.

Fringe benefits

When putting from the fringe of the green, imagine the hole is a few feet further from you and ensure you follow through to get a good roll. Remember though, depending on your touch, you still have a choice to either chip or putt off the fringe or alternatively, try a rescue club for chipping if there's one in your bag.

Err on the pro side

With a curling putt, always allow for more break than you see. Pros know that a ball dying into the hole from the side has more chance of dropping into the cup than one that is weak and shallow. This is especially important when putting on a downhill left-to-right break where aiming way out to the left of the cup is key for the ball to drop into the high side.

Talkin Turf - Doug Jeffrey

As we head into the brunt of summer the course is holding up fairly well so far. Thankfully, June was not too extreme. With the summer heat, however, the usual stress areas have started showing up due to poor soil conditions, irrigation coverage and the type of grass growing there. We combat these areas with isolated irrigation cycles from sprinklers in addition to the programmed time that runs through the evening. We also hand water with a hose and apply surfactants to encourage the surface water to be held in the thatch layer down into the soil.

With our irrigation output capabilities or constraints it takes from an early evening start to 6 or 7 the next morning to get through all that is programmed. This is adjusted daily depending on weather factors, such as evaporation and transpiration rates and soil saturations. We have been trying to go through the course and clean off sprinkler heads that we have been able to get to in awhile, and to isolate those areas that get too wet or not wet enough.

We put a diffuser screw into a nozzle in one area on the No. 4 tee to allow better coverage on the tee and not over it. Many sprinkler heads are also in need of leveling and rising. As I submitted our water diversion report to the state water resource board last month there is always the question, "What have you done this past year to conserve water." Some of the projects we can work on are those sprinklers that irrigate in areas that don't need to be, which will mean moving sprinklers 10 feet or so.

We had two projects planned for June: greens venting aeration and fairway aeration. The greens vent went fairly smoothly, but we had to carry it out over a couple days. The fairway aeration was delayed due to a drive shaft break down on the aerator and the time to get a new one. The aeration delay has also delayed our next fairway fertilizer application. We will continue on it as we go into July.

18ers - Liz Kane

18 Hole Ladies Group

Number one on my agenda for this month's article is a huge thank you to our ladies invitational committee for an amazing event that took place June 8-9-10.

Chaired by Cathie Dyer, the committee composed of Jerri Arens, Heidi Matlack, Karen McCaughern, Ellen Page, Jody Clark, Gloria Gaetano, Heidi Caldwell and Elaine Boggess, outdid themselves this year. The "It's a Jungle out There" theme was painstakingly carried out throughout the club house with amazing decorations crafted by the ladies during months of hard work.

The tournament itself was fun, the auxiliary events like the nine-hole par 3 tournament, filly race and putting contests went well and the food presented by Jen, Mike, Melissa and the rest of the bar and kitchen staff was outstanding.

The mood was festive and all our guests were amazed that such a small group of ladies was able to stage such a wonderful event. Thank you to all who worked and to all who came and enjoyed themselves. It was definitely the highlight of our year so far.
