Re: Interpretation of Ministry Impression Activity

Dear Leadership Team,

Attached are two bar graphs that were made with the results of the Ministry Impression Activity Kevin and I lead on October 31, 2016. As designed, this is an impression of the ministry vision of the Grace and Mercy members who participated. It is not intended to be conclusive.

Each person who participated was given three orange tabs and three blue tabs. The orange signified those ministries the person felt was important but might not participate in. The blue tabs signified those ministries the person would likely support with time and resources.

The first graph is a one to one representation. Every vote is counted equally. The result, in my opinion, was very vague.

The second graph I weighted 3:1. The blue tags are worth three and the orange only one. I did this because we might consider, with our limited time and resources, focusing on the ministries that our members are willing to participate in. There are many variables and things to take into consideration, but Prison Ministry and Assisted Living Ministry rise above the rest.

Again, this is intended for discussion and general evaluation only. I hope that it will be of some value as the Grace and Mercy moves forward.

Respectfully,

Jerry McMichael
