

Listening Is What We Do Best

We Save Our Clients Time & Money

iNetko is a service oriented company that targets small to medium size businesses providing them with a technology similar to any big size company. We provide a long range of services covering Network and Internet Solutions. Our services are specifically designed for businesses without an IT department or that want to outsource their IT department. Our goal is to simplify the products we offer targeting only the client needs. We don't sell add-on products. If we propose you a service that means you need it.

We specialized in supporting business office environments. Working closely with you as your technology partner we strive to understand your needs and goals. We can handle any project from simple maintenance and repair, Company website to the most complex LAN/WAN environments and Database applications out there. We have certified Systems Engineers managing your network and database servers instead of the "office manager". We offer our services at competitive rates and pride ourselves in our commitment to continuing education.
