

programme for leadership development

This programme is aimed at enthusiastic, aspiring and current leaders who are keen to develop their practice. The course will be facilitated by Katy Pinchess (Head Teacher Bentley CE School) and Shelley Kinteh (Deputy Head Teacher at Eggar's School).

Both facilitators have trained with the National College and have much experience of leading National College Programmes. As part of the course participants will require a mentor in their school to support their Leadership School Based Project work.

The foci of the course will be to develop and to support understanding of leadership skills. On our journey we will reflect on the importance of research based evidence in education and data use for strategic planning.

Participants will complete the programme with a celebration and presentation to mentors at the end of the academic year.

This programme seeks to enable participants to:

- engage in active research
- identify the difference between leadership and management
- analyse and use performance data
- identify effective teaching and learning
- develop the necessary skills to become an effective team leader
- manage change and continuous improvement
- identify gaps in attainment and develop leadership strategies to close the gap
- carry out a whole school improvement project that seeks with measurable impact
- participate in regular reflective conversation with a mentor
