Dean's Column

by William Vaughan

As you receive this newsletter, most of us church musicians are on the threshold of Lent. In the old Roman Missal of the Catholic church, before the Third Edition came out in 2010, one of the Prefaces for Lent began, "Each year you give us this joyful season when we prepare to celebrate the paschal mystery with mind and heart renewed." My ears would perk up each time I used to hear those words. I really thought those words to be rather odd in a season that for some is all about fasting, penance and almsgiving. As I read more about the season of Lent, I am trying my best to live by those words from that Preface. Will this Lenten season be 'joyful' for you? Will you be renewed by the music you choose for your preludes and postludes, choir anthems, and congregational songs? Or will your choices be more of the same old, same old?

I just will not repeat the same music I did last year or the year before that, etc. If I do not grow musically and spiritually, why should anyone else that encounters my musical choices be changed. Many years ago, I knew a director of music, who was full-time, who repeated the same music year after year. If all we do is repeat the same music, why is the church paying us a full-time, or even a part-time salary?

Each year, I first look at the scriptures, which I know by heart, but I still read them again. Then I look at a wide range of musical choices, for the congregation, choirs and myself. I slowly whittle my choices down until I think I have the music that I feel will sing of our faith in this 'joyful season.' I take into account many different factors when deciding on musical choices. The first one of course is the season we are in. The second is what is going on in our neighborhood and world. The third one would be if there is a something special happening in our church and school which I would try to relate to musically.

In my office, I always have KDFC on while I am working at the computer. If I hear a piece that catches my ear, I will go to IMSLP.org and see if there is a piano or organ transcription of the work. If there is, I will learn it and play it for church. I have played quite a few organ transcriptions, and the people seem to really relate to them. One of them is the Adagio from the Mozart Clarinet Concerto in A. With the MIDI on our Rodgers organ, I am able to simulate an almost real-sounding

Review: SFAGO February Program

by William Vaughan

George Emblom at the piano, and Cliff Hill conducting

On Presidents' Day, 22 of us were treated to a delightful morning of anthem reading provided for us by Cliff Hill. John Karl Hirten hosted us at St Stephen's in Belvedere. The morning began with hospitality provided for us by Jane Rosenblum. George Emblom, Sub-Dean, opened the session with an ice breaker, which made us all feel very welcome.

Cliff Hill provided us all with a packet of 'new' anthems from various publishers. As Cliff said many times throughout the reading session, he had never directed a group that read so beautifully. Some of the anthems were quite difficult. Cliff had many humorous stories about his past church jobs as a choir director, and about his current job as president of Cliff Hill Music Inc.

Cliff Hill conducting

May I add that George Emblom did a perfect job accompanying us. He had not seen the anthems before, and was spot on with his sight reading of the piano/organ score plus open score!

Chapter Competition

April 9 at 4:00 p.m.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church, San Francisco.

Come, be our audience.

After our choral reading session, we gathered for lunch which was provided for us by Piazza D'Angelo in Mill Valley. We had quite an array of thin-crust pizzas with Caesar salad. There was plenty of food for everyone.

After lunch, George and I led a discussion about our chapter. We heard from members about the highs and the lows of what is going on with the church music scene in the Bay Area. Not all the participants stayed for this insightful session, that is why the picture does not have as many people as the morning session had.

I thank all who came and drove through the wicked weather! Some members who had signed up, did not make it, I'm sure because of the drenching weather. It never stopped raining from when I left San Leandro at 7:30 am until I returned at 3:30. In fact it got worse as the afternoon went on.

I hope we have another choral reading session in our programming in the years to come. St Stephen's was a perfect setting. My thanks to all who worked on this program and to St Stephen's for hosting us.

Alcee Chriss III, winner of the Firmin Swinnen second prize at the Longwood Gardens International Organ Competition 2016, has been celebrated for his “grace, skill and abundant proficiency” (Journal Assist News, Albuquerque). He has performed throughout the United States and France and is emerging as an outstanding young concert artist of virtuosity and versatility. He has won top prizes at international and national competitions, receiving First Prize and Audience Prize in the Miami International Organ Competition (2014), the Fort Wayne National Organ Competition (2016), the Albert Schweitzer National Organ Competition in Wethersfield, CT (2013), and the Quimby Regional Competition for Young Organists in Austin, TX (2013). Alcee was also selected as one of five finalists for the final round of the Taylor Organ Competition in Atlanta in April 2015, and won the $5,000 second prize. In addition to being a “Rising Star” performer at the AGO National Convention in Boston during the summer of 2014, he also received a grant from Oberlin’s 1835 fund to spend January 2014 in France studying historic organs and repertoire. Alcee returned to France in April 2016 to perform a solo recital as a part of the Festival Myrelingues in Lyon and continues to do international music outreach work as the parrain of a music immersion course in Lyon’s Duchère district.

An alumnus of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Alcee received the Masters degree in historical keyboard and a Bachelors degree in Organ. At Oberlin, he studied organ with James David Christie, Olivier Latry, and has had studies in improvisation with Marie-Louise Langlais. He has studied harpsichord and continuo playing with Webb Wiggins and Hank Knox. In May 2015, he served as the harpsichordist for Oberlin’s production of Marc-Antoine Charpentier’s opera Les Plaisirs de Versailles at both the National Museum of American History and the Boston Early Music Festival.

In the fall of 2015, Alcee began his doctorate degree at McGill University where he studies with Hans-Ola Ericsson. He has performed in such venues as the Meyerson Symphony Center (Dallas), John F. Kennedy Center, Washington National Cathedral, Caruth Auditorium, and St Olaf’s Catholic Church, Minneapolis, among others. In addition to his organ and harpsichord studies, Alcee is active as a conductor and jazz pianist.

Special Projects Committee

by Helen Pereira

The Special Projects Committee met recently for its second of three yearly meetings. Three of five members were present, the other two being unavailable at the time. Our main goals were to consider recent grant applications, make a decision on a bank issue, and discuss advertising possibilities.

During the second cycle of our three yearly cycles we received two grant applications.

The first was from the Sacred Heart Music Center in Duluth, MN. They are in the process of restoring the historical Felgemaker organ in preparation for The Organ Historical Society's 2017 Convention to be held August 5-11. The request was for money to help repair and restore the organ. Unfortunately, our grant guidelines do not include organ repairs, so we have asked them to re-write the application in a different way so that we can help with their project. Perhaps funding a recital or another fundraiser would be another, more specific option that we could support. The second application was from David Pickering who asked for funds to be used to create a documentary film highlighting the organs and organ program at Kansas State University. Our Committee approved this application and awarded it with the $3,000 that was requested. Another application has been sent to us, but since it was received after the cycle deadline of December 15th, it will be considered at our third meeting in May.

Also during our second yearly cycle, our five-year US Bank CD account matured. Action needed to be taken, as the interest rate for this account was minimal. Bank research resulted in finding an account at First Republic Bank that would give us a much higher interest rate. We are in the process of moving our account to the new bank.

Although there is no national SFAGO convention this year, there are seven regional conventions being held during the months of June and July all across the USA. We are interested in both supporting them and stimulating interest of others in our own Special Projects Committee by advertising in the convention program booklets. Momentarily we are gathering the advertising forms and will be considering which ones are of greatest interest to us.

New Members, Welcome!

Symphonic Schoenstein to Atlanta

from Jack Bethards

Schoenstein & Co. is building an organ of two manuals, 14 voices, 16 ranks for Mikell Chapel at the Cathedral of St Philip in Atlanta. The organ, which replaces an electronic instrument, is in the symphonic style and includes a double expressive division within the Swell. In the E.M. Skinner tradition, a comprehensive Swell division is duplexed onto a Great of 8' Open Diapason and 4' Principal. Schoenstein & Co.

built a new console for the Cathedral Church Æolian-Skinner organ, and the new chapel organ will incorporate many of the same combination action and other playing aids to facilitate use for practice. Mikell

Chapel, dedicated in 1947, sees heavy use for weekday services, two services on Sunday, as well as weddings and funerals. Installation is scheduled for September, 2017. The canon for music is Dale Adelman, associate organist and choirmaster is David Fishburn and Patrick Scott is assistant organist and choirmaster. The organ was made possible through the generosity of Delbert Lowell Jacks in memory of Thomas Ruben Jones.

Clarinet. I then will listen to the original orchestration and compare it to what I can create, so that I can have the organ imitate the sound of a string accompaniment. Doing this has 'renewed my mind and heart.'

I have even tried this orchestration with Bach's Trio Sonatas. I will use a Flute in the right hand, an Oboe in the left hand, and a Cello in the pedals. For me, it brings the melody and the phrasing to life. Because I choose a Flute, Oboe and Cello, I attempt to phrase each part as if I were playing those instruments. This has opened my ears to listen to what I play. I don't rattle on just to get through the piece.

Part of the first sentence in the Preface for Lent in the new Roman Missal says, "For by your gracious gift each year your faithful await the sacred paschal feasts with the joy of minds made pure, so that, more eagerly intent on prayer and on the works of charity, and participating in the mysteries by which they have been reborn..." The key words for me in this rather long sentence are gift and joy. Each day is a gift, and through our music ministry, may we bring joy to others through the countless notes we play, direct and sing, and even miss! (LOL)
