San Francisco Chapter Newsletter

Dean's Column

by William Vaughan

After playing five Masses for Palm Sunday, I took BART over to San Francisco to attend our Chapter competition at St Luke's Episcopal Church. What an absolutely delightful afternoon and evening we all had.

Our two competitors were Eric Zhang, a high school student, organ student of Chris Tietze, and Dominic Pang, an 8th grader, organ student of Angela Kraft Cross.

On the Friday before, I met both Eric and Dominic at St Luke's for them to practice three hours each on the Aeolian-Skinner. Well, they had their programs down perfectly. It was incredible listening to them practice. Those three hours each flew by rather quickly.

On Sunday afternoon at 4pm, the judges: Sandra Soderlund, John Karl Hirten and Brian Swager along with the competitors: Eric and Dominic, their teachers and families gathered in St Luke's to hear the competition. Dominic Pang performed first. He played the following:

- Toccat, Adagio and Fugue in C Major — J. S. Bach
- Mass for Dedication — Frank Ferko
 - I. Entrance
 - II. Offertory
 - III. Consecration
 - V. Finale
- Final - Symphonie 1 — Louis Vierne
- Hymn - Son of God, Eternal Savior (IN BABILONE)

After giving the judges ample time to write comments and tally their scores, we continued with Eric Zhang, who played the following:

- Hymn - Praise to the Lord, the Almighty
(LOBE DEN HERREN)
- Prelude and Fugue in C Minor — J.S. Bach
- Mass for Dedication — Frank Ferko
 - I. Entrance
 - II. Offertory
 - III. Consecration
 - V. Finale
- Sonata VI (1st Movement) — Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy

Review: Joint-Chapter April Event

from William Vaughan

For our April Event, we teamed up with the Palo Alto/ Peninsula Chapter, who in turn teamed up with Christ Church, Portola Valley, who presented young organist Greg Zelek. It was an incredible evening of beautiful music making!

First off, Christ Church is situated in one of the most beautiful and lush parts of the Bay Area. I started my drive from San Leandro quite early in order to meander through the Palo Alto hills and Portola Valley. Once out of the car at the church, I was struck by the crispness and the aroma of the clean air. I had forgotten how fresh the air was there. The last time I was in that area was 25 years ago when I used to ride my bike from Saint Patrick's Seminary making the loop through Portola Valley.

Sorry for my trip down memory lane, now back to the concert. The first half of the program included: Mendelssohn - 1st Sonata; Mulet - Rosace; Bach - Prelude and Fugue in a; Liszt - Liebestraum; Weaver - Fantasia. After a brief intermission, the second half was the Guilman 1st Sonata, followed by an exciting and rhythmic Cuban encore. (Greg is Cuban on his mother's side, and is from Miami.)

Greg is currently pursuing an Artist Diploma as a student of Paul Jacobs at the Julliard School. He is also the Music Director at the Episcopal Church of St Matthew and St Timothy in New York City. He also concertizes quite a bit throughout the year.

The Visser-Rowland organ — as you can see from the picture — is situated in the sanctuary. Christ Church is a very beautiful and quite tall A-frame wood church, with not so live acoustics. Greg chose his stops carefully and we heard so many exquisite solo sounds. The full organ even with the horizontal Trompette wasn't too much for the ears. Because of the sudden upsurge in the Bay Area temperature, the reeds were a bit out with the rest of the organ. That made adding the horizontal reed quite interesting.

Greg's sensitive playing was incredible. His phrasing was tailored to the acoustics of Christ Church. He wasn't just rattling

As you look at the repertoire played, each performer had to choose a Bach piece and a piece written after 1750. The Frank Ferko piece had to be learned by all competitors. They also had to play a prescribed hymn which we all sang.

Really, I thought both players did an extremely excellent job. I turned pages for both players, and I noticed they were both so very relaxed! Their handling of the instrument was of such ease, especially the way they changed pistons and toe studs during the pieces.

off memorized music. There were times that he would add the tremolo and then take it off towards the end of a phrase. His ears were listening to the phrasing also. Along with using the pistons and toe studs, Greg actually pushed and pulled stops quite often. That was refreshing to see.

I hope Greg makes concertizing his career. He was really at home with us, the audience. Before each piece, he would not only talk about the composer and the piece, but he would also say something funny about himself or something that had happened. He drew us in, and the 90+ minute concert flew by.

There was a hand full of us from the SFAGO. I would say the majority of the audience was parishioners of Christ Church. They were bubbling with enthusiasm throughout the evening's concert.

I wish to thank Ed and Mary Jennings from Christ Church who hosted Greg, and Tim Getz, Dean of the Palo Alto/ Peninsula Chapter for allowing us to dovetail onto their series. I spoke with Tim at the reception, and we both agree that we would like to do more combined events in the coming years.

President of THE RESONANCE PROJECT – which uses music in international conflict resolution. He is a certified teacher of Meditation in Daily Stress, a technique developed by Michel Pascal and the Dalai Lama. He is deeply committed to healing our world through the beauty of music, and talks eagerly on the subjects of spirituality, psychology, aesthetics, and the Arts.

Cellist ANGELA LEE has performed recitals in Alice Tully Hall at Lincoln Center, Victor Borge Hall and Carnegie Hall in New York, Chicago's Cultural Center, The Phillip's Collection and Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., Copenhagen's Nationalmuseet, and the Purcell Room at South Bank Centre in London. A graduate of The Juilliard School and Yale School of Music, she is a recipient of a Fulbright scholarship to study in London with William Pleeth, a grant from the Foundation for American Musicians in Europe, the Jury Prize in the Naumburg International Cello Competition, and a cello performance fellowship from the American-Scandinavian Foundation. She is frequently invited to festivals including St Petersburg's Revelations, IMS at Prussia Cove, Taipei Summer Festival, Pontino Festival, La Musica, Banff, Marlboro Music Festival, Anneberg Festival, Chelsea Music Festival, Music Mountain, Mahler-Jihlava Festival, and Mainly Mozart collaborating with Nobuko Imai, Bruno Giuranna, Frans Helmerson, Isabelle Faust, Lydia Artymiw, Andras Schiff, Alexander Lonquich, Anthony Newman, Franco Petracchi, and members of the Beaux Arts Trio and Guarneri Quartet.

Using music to foster peace and goodwill, Angela Lee has made numerous humanitarian trips to the Republic of the Philippines and the former Yugoslavia. While on a U.N.-sanctioned tour of six war-torn cities throughout Bosnia-Herzegovina, she performed for American and NATO troops and displaced civilians. As part of The Lee Trio with her sisters—Lisa, violinist, and Melinda, pianist—Angela Lee traveled to Ukraine in 2010 and to Romania in 2017 to work and perform for underprivileged children. At the end, the judges said it was a rather hard decision to make because they both played so very well. After tallying the judges scores, Dominic Pang won first place.

In June, Dominic will go to the Regional Convention in Salt Lake City and compete with the other winners from around the West. We certainly wish Dominic the very best as he prepares for the next round.

I am really quite proud of both Dominic and Eric, and their teachers. It was such mature playing, and mature poise interacting with the adults before and after the competition.

After the competition, we all had dinner together at Ti Piacera on Polk Street. There were 15 of us, and we laughed and carried on with plenty of tasty food and wine.

I wish to thank Steve Repasky, Birgit Jacobsen and the rector of St Luke's for allowing us to hold the competition there, and the ample time they gave us in arranging everything!

Our new website is up and running.

Plases check it out and sign up for the annual dinner while you are there.

SEEKING TEACHER

I am 70-year-old with plans to learn to play church hymns on Hammond Organ for my own personal worship at home. I have intermediate piano keyboard skill. I'm looking for a teacher who loves hymns; I am good student and a professional. Do you know of someone who can tutor me? I live in Walnut Creek area and I will drive up to 100 miles for a good teacher. Thanks. Jire Idowu, 925-708-1263
