

ABOUT ERICKA YOUNG

Ericka Young is the president and founder of Tailor-Made Budgets. After college, Ericka took an expected path in her degreed field of engineering. During this time, Ericka and her husband Chris carried loads of debt that included student loans, car payments, and a mortgage. They were doing the things that all young couples do but along with that came added stress.

It was during this time that Ericka and her husband discovered Dave Ramsey's program. Within 5 years, following the program, Ericka and Chris dug their way out of nearly $100,000 in debt. As a result of their success, after 7 years of working as an engineer, Ericka realized that her true passion was not in the technical field of engineering but in helping others gain control over their money through financial coaching.

Her love for numbers and data crunching translated easily into analyzing financial information. She became a certified financial coach by Dave Ramsey's Lampo Group and is now a recognized expert in financial coaching helping people significantly improve their finances, family and their future.

Ericka currently teaches her message of debt freedom through her e-newsletters, personal coaching, workshops and speaking engagements. Since she opened Tailor-Made Budgets in 2005, Ericka has:
