

* PRIVACY POLICY:

1. At present, Your Dyslexia Solution does not use your information for anything other than corresponding with you regarding your inquiries and communication. We will keep the information you provide on file for reference only and for a period no greater than 2 years, upon which time your information will be purged from our records.
2. Your Dyslexia Solution respects your privacy and does not share your personal information with any outside parties, external entities, companies, or affiliates whatsoever. You will never receive any unsolicited communication or SPAM as a result of the information you provide.
3. Depending on your individual situation and communication you've had with us, we may have new programs or options become available that we believe would be beneficial to you based on prior correspondence or communications. In this event, we may use your information to initiate a new dialogue with you relating to these potentially helpful developments.
