- ❖ If you leave your home in the morning you give thought to your entire day when carrying a firearm with responsible gun ownership. It is not up to the government to say what is right for one is right for all when it comes to responsible ownership. A safe gun in one home may be locked but that may not be considered that way for everyone. To be responsible be sure to know your firearm and know how it fires and everything else about it. Help people in fear of firearms over their fear with safe handling and win their support of firearms. Things to do in support of our country and 2nd amendment—please Vote it matters, be responsible, mentor, check with or let your neighbors or family members know if you are going shooting off your porch or in your yard so police are not dispatched. Be proactive have a backup plan in what happens to your firearms should something happen to you.
