Houston, We Have a Problem!

I have just read a 35-page document reported by the Houston Chronicle concerning Southern Baptist clergy sexual abuse recently made public. The report states that this has been going on for 20 years. Some very high-profile people are directly named in the story. I know this will be a very sensitive topic for months, even years to come. However, I feel compelled to address the issue. According to the article many abusive situations have continued for years in SBC churches; appalling was that those who were found guilty had moved on to serve at other churches. The article can be viewed by the Houston Chronicle at the link below. [<https://www.houstonchronicle.com/news/investigations/article/Southern-Baptist-sexual-abuse-spreads-as-leaders-13588038.php>] We know we live in a fallen world, but when pastors and clergy fall, it makes headlines for days. Southern Baptist have long been known for pointing the finger at other denominations and exposing their failures. However, in this article we find that no one is exempt from sexual abuse problems. The Roman Catholics have been in the news repeatedly for mishandling and disciplining priests in their church for sexually immoral behavior; specifically, with under-aged children.

As the spot light is on Southern Baptist, pastors and ministers of the Gospel, we cannot allow undisciplined sin to remain among our churches. John Piper wrote the book "Brethren we are not professionals" indicating we are not CEO's and presidents of corporations. There has been entrusted to us the vulnerability of fallen people who need our support, Christian love, and compassion. The Houston Chronicle identified these 700 victims over a 20-year period as casualties of "Predators." Regardless of where, when and who this behavior occurs, it must be addressed with an intentional process for recovery, repentance and restoration. Turning a deaf ear to sin in our midst is not an option. While churches do have autonomy, we have a common faith and belief about morality and Christian conduct.

Probably what alarms me most is that this topic has been addressed numerous times to the leaders of the SBC; yet very little has been done to address the problem. We cannot "stick our heads in the sand" any longer. Our churches must be a place of safety and security for all. 1 Peter 4:17, clearly indicates that judgement begins at the house of God. Church Discipline is often talked about but rarely implemented or done redemptively. It only takes one situation alleged or real to destroy the witness of the Church.

I think of Joshua 7 and the defeat at Ai because of Achen's sin. Southern Baptist have been brought under the microscope of the public. How we deal with this will speak volumes to our churches, neighbors and communities. What can be done? Obviously, this is a whole Church issue, we all must be concerned with protecting the innocent. As pastors and leaders of the Church, we can put in place strict measures that will protect both children and adults from abusive behavior from anyone. Also, there needs to be policies in place to rightly report and restore the victims and those guilty of such behavior. Additionally, there must be in place a process to protect people from false accusations.

The hypocrisy of the World cannot be found in our Churches and our personal lives. We must Walk what we Talk. I am sure this will be a significant topic at our annual meeting in Birmingham this June. We cannot begin the healing and restoration of victims or offenders until we, recognize, repent and admit that we have a problem.

I know there are multitudes of godly, well respected and upright pastors and leaders in our midst. I am not lumping everyone into the same bucket. We must pray for each other and hold one another accountable before God and men. If we do not heed the clarion call to do the right thing, how can we expect people to trust us or the Gospel we preach? This issue must be a PRIORITY in our ministries.

Sending Hope

MARCH 3-10, 2019

OFFERING GOAL: $70 MILLION

The Annie Armstrong Easter Offering® is named after Annie Armstrong who was the first corresponding secretary for the Woman's Missionary Union (WMU). This annual offering celebrates Annie Armstrong's life and legacy--one that centered around encouraging and stirring up others to support and be involved in missions endeavors. She wrote over 18,000 letters in one year to spur on giving towards missions. Her love to reach the lost did not start there. Annie Armstrong also worked diligently in her community to reach out to those around her through a kind word, giving a hug, or handing out clothing. The offering is given to missionaries serving in North American through the North American Mission Board (NAMB).

"We must not love with words or speech, but with truth and action."
