FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New York, NY, January 27, 2017 - Audit Services is pleased to announce a significant expansion of our general ledger audit program. As the transition of PRA Government Services' unclaimed property program to Audit Services is nearly completed, we wanted to make you aware of several new developments.

First, in addition to the ongoing general ledger related audits we may already be performing on your behalf, Audit Services is in process of assuming 40 ongoing general ledger audits from PRA, many of which are well suited to expand nationally. In the coming weeks/months, we will be soliciting your participation, where applicable and appropriate.

Second, in order to support the new focus on general ledger audits, several new personnel will be joining the Audit Services team. We are very pleased to announce that two additional highly experienced unclaimed property audit managers have joined Audit Services - Amy Manganaro (most recently with PRA) and Erik Kallevik (most recently with Kelmar). In addition to the new audit resources, Audit Services has also retained the legal services of Robert Krenkowitz (Bob). Bob is one of the nation's leading authorities on unclaimed property law and litigation and is available to any state in need of assistance with any legal question arising during the course of an audit, legislation or litigation.

Third, Audit Services will be assuming PRA's Contractor Assisted Self Audit (CASA) program. In case you were not familiar with the program, it was created to help states increase holder compliance through a less invasive examination process than a traditional general ledger audit, as well as extend compliance to smaller holders where a field examination may not be warranted or practical. The process combines a form of data analytics with highly structured program procedures. It is the intent of Audit Services to continue to collaborate (with the consent of a participating state) with PRA to support this program.

If you have any questions or would like to set up a meeting to discuss Audit Services' expanded general ledger audit program, please feel free to reach out to me any time by phone at 917-692-5852 or by email at jkatz@auditservicesus.com.
