Kelly's Corner

As I scroll through my Facebook feed, I see many smiling faces of teenagers heading off to college, an adventure that brings excitement to incoming freshman and often tears for parents who were just putting their child on the bus yesterday. Perched on dorm bunk beds, rooms color-coordinated with matching decor from floor to ceiling, the thought on nearly every student's mind is freedom at last.

Parents have spent years preparing their child for this moment, instructing them on time management for homework assignments, alcohol in moderation (if at all), healthy eating habits, and especially connecting with safe friends. No parent wants to ever consider seasoned groomers or traffickers stepping foot on a college campus. After all, isn't it the goal of every college student to live the all-American dream?

Meet Jackie. This big city girl comes from a white-collar family of professionals who raised Jackie with a solid value system and a street savvy mindset to spot a con a mile away. She was beautiful, sticking her toes in the world of modeling at a young age. However, Jackie quickly became bored with that world and set her sights on the dream of earning her Master's in Education.*

Shortly after her arrival at a prestigious college, she and her friends hit the local hangout for some dancing and relaxation. Standing out as a true beauty on the dance floor, it was no surprise that a modeling scout approached her with his business card and a promise to launch her modeling career. The offer was too good to pass up. He would bankroll her professional portfolio and book her first job within 30 days. As promised, everything he said, he delivered.

After the first month, Jackie witnessed the "modeling agent" physically assault another model. That was enough to make Jackie walk away. However, she soon learned that this was not an option. The "agent" said she would become his recruiter and later his prostitute or he would pull her W-9 which listed her permanent and current addresses. Threats of violence against her family and roommates were made. Jackie was terrified.

This very smart, confident girl was under the control of a pimp for the next year. Her parents had no idea what happened to their daughter until a sting blew the ring wide open. Over the dinner table, Jackie told her parents everything. They were devastated and Jackie had a long road to recovery.

How is it possible for a savvy girl like Jackie to fall victim to such mind control? First, you need to understand the complexity of this organized crime and the subtle manipulation that seasoned groomers and traffickers use to make millions each year. They don't sit on dark corners, in white, unmarked vans. They blend in and walk among us. They are truly masters of their craft.

Talk to your college student about the realities of this threat that has no boundaries. College is a wonderful time of exploration, friendship and educational growth. Knowledge is the ultimate defense.

This is a true story. The name of the victim has been changed to protect her privacy.*
