You Won't Want to Miss Dinner!

What does a food bank do when there's a hungry world waiting outside its front door? Well, it feeds the hungry world, of course. What does a food bank do when its annual fundraising dinner has seats for valued supporters like yourself? It's a no-brainer; they feed you!

On Friday, September 28th at 6:00 pm, Southeastern Food Bank will be commencing its annual fundraising dinner at Quest Church of Ocoee. The excitement for this evening, we believe, is that it will be just as much refreshing to you as it will be to us.

We are delighted to announce that, facilitating the evening will be George W. Bush impersonator John Morgan. You are really in for a treat with John Morgan's remarkable act. We guarantee that you won't leave without first putting in a few belly-laughs!

This evening will also include our regular annual silent auction; offering you gift baskets with a range of products and services from various generous donors. And finally, as for the dinner itself, we look forward to serving you some of Orlando's finest—Pizzeria Valdiano's authentic Italian cuisine!

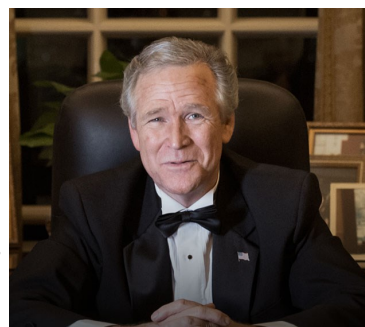

All entertainment aside, the reason we want to sit beside you on this evening is because we need your help. As we already have our sights fixed on next year's goals and overhead, we need your assistance in the continued chapters of reducing hunger in Central Florida, one meal at a time.

There are a few big ways that you can help us in the days leading up to our annual dinner. One, we are offering special sponsorships to businesses (see back) that will offer advertising, tax deduction, and additional seating. Another, we are seeking donations of new merchandise, discount coupons, and gift cards for the gift baskets that are to be raffled off. If you have, or know of anyone who has, anything in this way, we would be so appreciative of those contributions (indicate on back).

The biggest way you can help, however, is to: join us. Your personal presence brings us the greatest support of all! For seating costs and more information on the dinner, please visit our website and find the annual dinner page under events. We thank you again for your love and support! We hope to see you on Friday, September 28th!
