Your Investment Matters

You've probably heard the statistics about how students who are involved in instrumental music education as youth do better academically and socially and how music training helps under-achievers scholastically regardless of their socio-economic background. We have found this to be true of our students.

This season, we are celebrating our 10th season. In this time, we have seen our students graduate our programs and become successful adults. Our students have become lawyers, police officers, music educators, medical researchers and more! We firmly believe that the skills and disciplines that they learned while participating in music education programs transferred into the rest of their lives and contributed to their success. Students who are involved in youth music programs gain marketable skills such as team work, preparation, being on time and how their piece of the musical project affects the others.

The MVYSO has programs for students of every playing level and ability from beginners to the most advanced students. We also have programs designed for students with special needs.

We have never turned away a student based on the inability to pay tuition. By donating you'll be helping us to keep our tuition costs low, the quality of our programs high and most importantly, helping us provide tuition assistance to students in need. You'll be keeping kids involved in this very important part of their lives. When you keep kids involved in music, you don't just help them through an activity they do through high school, you change their lives forever!

Thank you for your consideration!
