What is Morse code?

Morse code is a method of transmitting text information as a series of on-off tones, lights, or clicks that can be directly understood by a skilled listener or observer without a special equipment. The International Morse Codes encodes the basic Latin alphabet as standardized sequences of short and long signals called “dots” and “dashes” as in radio practice. It was developed in 1836 by the American artist Samuel Morse, the American physicist Joseph Henry, and Alfred Vail. (source: Wikipedia)
