Mission and Purpose

AgriVenture for Kids provides a faith-based,
hands-on learning experience for youth on a farm setting. Our purpose is to inspire, support and encourage youth to explore the wonders of nature, agriculture and animals.

Why AgriVenture for Kids?

It started with a Dream...

As a young boy, Martin Wolf loved to spend time on his family farm tending to chickens and farm animals, planting seeds, tending to the garden, adventuring through the woods learning about trees and all of God's splendor in an outdoor living classroom.

Our goal is to share these same hands-on agri-experiences where kids (grades 3-6) can learn to explore, grow, build and problem solve. Kids will be encouraged to "do" with their hands, head and heart and in the process they discover more about life and themselves.

We will provide a screen-free (and fun!) learning environment throughout our time on the farm.

What to Expect

Expect to have fun and get dirty while exploring trees and wildlife in the forest, planting a garden, learning about plant life, interacting with a variety of small and large farm animals, getting creative in the woodworking shop and being imaginative through themed arts and crafts!

Program Goals

A Place to Belong ...

- To provide a setting for youth and families to feel safe, accepted and have a sense of belonging.
- To create diverse learning opportunities where the values of respect for people, animals, plants and the environment are developed and strengthened.
- To allow young people to find and develop their strengths.
- To help youth and their families become responsible stewards of the world in which they live.
