

City participation requirements- UIDC 2018

The theme for Pod Car City Conference 2018 is "Planning for Autonomous Shared Mobility" and the purpose of UIDC is for student to present actual ways, benefits and ideas on how a city can work with implementing autonomous shared mobility into their city.

Collaboration

- The city and students are obliged meet at a minimum 3 times as well as provide access to key staff, one contact person, at the city for interview and for discussions about the area chosen for their study. It is perfectly okay for the city to participate more, however this is a student project and the city is not allowed to tell the students what to do – only give advise.

A start-up meeting is recommended for students to be able to understand opportunities and obstacles that city planners face in the daily planning. As well as one follow up during the project and a delivery of the finished project. The 4D model may during these meetings be used as a tool for analysis, communication and presentation.

Data

- The UIDC team will need critical data from the city such as development plans, possible maps (digital and sometimes on paper), policy documents on environmental goals and long term transportation plans.
- For UIDC projects outside Sweden the city is obliged to help in providing ortophoto and terrain data for the selected area.

Project selection

The team selects an appropriate project to work on. We recommend that the team selects a project that is important to the City and in early planning phase.

Presentation at Podcar City Conference

The team is obliged to send one (1) person to the Podcar City conference. City staff and officials are encouraged to participate if possible.

Financial support

One third of the UIDC cost for the contest, travels etc. must be covered by the city or an entity supporting the UIDC in that city. For year 2018 this amounts to $3,500 US.
