

In this challenging and perilous time, many people are wondering what we can do to make for a better, more just, and democratic world.

There are three principles worth considering:

1. Stand Together. Defend those under attack. We are united.
2. Promote the interests of the vast majority and expose those that defend only the 1%. We can stop some of the worst threats and promote our vision and values -- and win.
3. Organize. Engage and talk with people about their interests and concerns. Tell stories of real people impacted. Build on-going organization to give people a sense of their power, win improvements in people's lives, and change the balance of power.

Organizations Leading the Fight

Below are some organizations that are doing good work on various issues in states and nationally.

It is not an exhaustive list, nor does it address all areas of concern. But it is a start.

Please consider more groups and expand on the work that is already going on.

And thanks to ALL of you who organize and support organizing in whatever ways you can.
