

Political Campaign Fellowship Opportunities Position Descriptions

Introduction

Adam Roof for Burlington City Council seeking energetic and passionate young people to work on the campaign to re-elect Councilor Adam Roof to represent Ward 8 for another term.

Adam is a young, forward thinking, pragmatic progressive who believes in the power of collaboration in government and politics. In a political environment where partisan politics wreak havoc it's no surprise people are losing faith in government. Adam believes in a better path forward and hopes to continue his work on the Council brokering practical solutions and building a brighter future for young people in Burlington.

A successful campaign will require the support and effort from a dedicated team who believes in a shared mission of progress. This opportunity is right for anyone who wants to be a part of making real change in their community and hopes to gain valuable political experience.

Available Campaign Fellowships

- Field Coordinator

The campaign is interested in hiring several students to assist with organizing efforts on campus and in neighborhoods surrounding campus. Those selected will work to organize students to become educated about the upcoming election and participate through volunteering and voting. An important focus of the campaign effort is to include more students and young people in the discussion and the democratic process.

Successful applicants will be energetic, outgoing, and willing to engage with their networks around local political issues and the importance of voting. No prior experience with political organizing is necessary. With national politics become more and more divisive, we aim to run a positive and inclusive campaign.

- Digital Specialist

The role of Digital Specialist is critical to the success of the campaign. The role's main focus is helping create and execute a digital communications strategy with the goal of effectively sharing the campaign's message with the community. This role is well suited for those who know their way around social media platforms, especially Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Snapchat. Prior experience with creating sharable content is welcome, but not required.

Compensation: These opportunities are unpaid internships. Councilor Roof is committed to supporting those who support him and routinely assists in job searches for current students and recent graduates. Letters of recommendations will be provided for all those that support the campaign.

Part-Time: 5-10 hours a week. More hours available which include pay.

Interested candidates can send their resumes to roof4ward8@gmail.com. Cover letters are not requested, but feel free to send along a quick note about what interests you about this opportunity.
