

God's Blessings

Siavash, Ferial, and Pyman

This family was born and raised in Iran as Muslims, but never felt that they were truly connected to Islam. At HHN they learned that “Jesus loved us even though we are sinners.” After instruction and study in the Christian faith, they were baptized in a ceremony at HHN in October 2015.

Governance and Funding Houston Hope of the Nations (HHN)

Founded in 2009 as The Arabic American Fellowship, Houston Hope of the Nations (HHN) was reincorporated in 2015, and is governed by a Board of Directors. HHN is a 501 c (3) organization (EIN: 27-1357776).

HHN's Executive Director, the Rev. Eid Abdelmassih Hanna, is a member of the Presbytery of New Covenant of the Presbyterian Church in the USA (PCUSA).

HHN is also a new worshipping community of the PCUSA.

HHN's financial support comes entirely from individual supporters, churches, and other non-profit organizations.

Shawn and Sahar

Shawn and Sahar's faith in Christ produced fruits. Once they settled in the USA they started to reach out to the Iranian community in Houston. They are active in the ministry of HHN. Sahar now helps lead the worship services and the women's ministry. Shawn and Sahar have started a discipleship group for former Muslims on Saturdays.

Mirna

Mirna was born and raised Christian in Iraq. She suffered persecution for her faith. Two years ago, Mirna emigrated to the USA. HHN was able to help her adjust to her new life in Houston. She found a job, and was overjoyed to find fellowship with other families from her culture at HHN. She has adjusted to the group and has decided to study the Bible.

Mission of Houston Hope of the Nations

- To help refugees adjust to life in Houston
- To focus on immigrants from Middle Eastern countries.
- To provide opportunities for fellowship with people from area churches, and other immigrant families.
- To spread the gospel.
- To offer local citizens, churches, and other organizations opportunities to serve this immigrant community.

How HHN Does This

- By teaching English as a second language
- By helping with job searches
- By providing furniture and food
- By having fellowship meetings and worship services on Sunday afternoons.
- By conducting home Bible study groups for inquirers
- By hosting outreach events
- By building friendship with American churches
- By being a part of the Presbyterian Church's (PCUSA) new worshipping communities program
