National Signing Day is upon us, and a handful of Texas prospects remain uncommitted going into February 7th. For live coverage all day, The Old Coach has you covered at this link.

Here are the top recruits to keep an eye out for as National Signing Day progresses.

Jaylen Waddle, WR, Episcopal (Bellaire)

State Ranking: 3

National Ranking: 39

Waddle will decide between Texas, TCU, Florida State, Oregon, Texas A&M and Alabama at 3:30 p.m. If Waddle chooses the Longhorns, Tom Herman will have landed each of the top seven recruits in Texas for 2018.

Joseph Ossai, DE, Oak Ridge (Conroe)

State Ranking: 20

National Ranking: 186

Ossai will decide between Texas and Texas A&M on Wednesday. Ossai is one of the most integral players in deciding if the Longhorns or Aggies will come out with the better class in 2018.

Tommy Bush, WR, Clemens (Schertz)

State Ranking: 23

National Ranking: 196

Bush will pick between Texas, Michigan State, Georgia, Ole Miss, and Baylor at 10:30 a.m. on ESPN2. He is fresh off of a Baylor visit this past weekend.

Maurice Washington, RB, Trinity Christian (Cedar Hill)

State Ranking: 26

National Ranking: 207

Washington is one of the most sought-after running backs in the state as he will decide between Arizona State and Nebraska on Wednesday. Rumors around his commitment process say he might flip to defensive back if he chooses the Sun Devils. He will choose live on ESPN2 at 1:30 p.m.

Gabriel Douglas, WR, Ryan (Denton)

State Ranking: 41

National Ranking: 312

Douglas sent a big shocker to the recruiting world when he de-committed from Texas Tech the day before National Signing Day. Rumor around his Denton Ryan community says he will enroll at Jones County Junior College in Mississippi for next season despite holding offers from the Red Raiders and Indiana.

Vernon Jackson, DE/LB, Boling

State Ranking: 48

National Ranking: 358

Jackson is a recent de-commit from Alabama and is expected to roll with Texas A&M on Wednesday. He also holds offers from TCU, Baylor, and Texas among others.

Treveon Johnson, WR, Brenham

State Ranking: 72

National Ranking: 515

Johnson is also a recent de-commit as he shied away from his September decision of going to Oklahoma. He holds strong offers from Arkansas and Tennessee and is fresh off of a visit to SMU.

Joseph Ogunbanjo, DE/LB, Alief Taylor (Houston)

State Ranking: 93

National Ranking: 693

Ogunbanjo de-committed from Baylor last month but may still end up signing with the Bears on Wednesday. His other top choices include Utah, California, Air Force, and Arizona.
