In the first reading and the Gospel we hear two messages: first, we are to produce fruit in the vineyard and second, we are to give to God what He is due. As we continue our journey of salvation we realize that God calls us to do more with our lives than just concentrate on meeting our own selfish needs. Each of us is given different gifts that allow us to produce "fruit" in the vineyard of the Lord. God also sends us leaders to help us develop our gifts and use them in such a way that we can provide a "return" to God. In the second reading Paul tells us, "Keep on doing what you have learned and received and heard and seen in me." In other words, He wants us to be fruitful, but He does not leave us out here to just flounder about being busy but not accomplishing anything. When Isaiah tells us that "My Friend" has prepared the vineyard, we understand that God has sent us help to produce fruit – This help is in the form of the Church. We are given guidance and instruction. It is now up to us whether we decide to heed the teaching of the Church and produce fruit and give to God what we owe Him.

En la primera lectura y en el Evangelio oímos dos mensajes: primero, debemos producir fruto en la viña y segundo, debemos dar a Dios lo que El debe. A medida que continuamos nuestro camino de salvación nos damos cuenta de que Dios nos llama a hacer más con nuestras vidas que concentrarnos en satisfacer nuestras propias necesidades egoístas. Cada uno de nosotros recibe diferentes dones que nos permiten producir "fruto" en la viña del Señor. Dios también nos envía líderes para ayudarnos a desarrollar nuestros dones y usarlos de tal manera que podamos proporcionar un "retorno" a Dios. En la segunda lectura, Pablo nos dice: "Sigue haciendo lo que has aprendido y recibido, y oído y visto en mí". En otras palabras, El quiere que seamos fructíferos, pero El no nos deja aquí sólo para quejarse de ser ocupado pero sin lograr nada. Cuando Isaias nos dice que "Mi Amigo" ha preparado la viña, entendemos que Dios nos ha enviado ayuda para producir fruta - Esta ayuda está en la forma de la Iglesia. Se nos da orientación e instrucción. Ahora depende de nosotros si decidimos prestar atención a la enseñanza de la Iglesia y producir fruto y dar a Dios lo que le debemos.
