Today's Readings

Isaiah 40:1-5,9-11; Psalm 85:9-10,11-12,13-14 (R/ 8); 2 Peter 3:8-14; Mark 1:1-8

Lectura, as de Hoy
Isaías 40:1-5, 9-11; Salmo 85:8, 9ab-10, 11-12, 13-14; 2 Pedro 3:8-14; Marcos 1:1-8

In the first words of Isaiah in the first reading of today, God assures His people that He is coming to comfort them. This message is addressed to us all. The Lord assures us that "Every valley shall be filled in, every mountain and hill shall be made low... Then the glory of the Lord shall be revealed."

This implies that no matter the situation that I find myself, all shall be well. It shall all be good. Advent is a season in which we look ahead with hope. Following what is happening in the world; within our hearts and out there, we actually need a savior. Our own efforts have failed us. Our own efforts do not always give us genuine satisfaction. We need a greater power to keep things flowing in a more peaceful and comforting manner. With the many distractions we have here on earth, we find ourselves falling more and more into some kind of emptiness and even frustration. Isaiah assures us that God is to restore our freedom, our joy and our satisfaction. He is coming to put things straight, so we should prepare in hope to receive Him.

En las primeras palabras de Isaías en la primera lectura de hoy, Dios le asegura a Su pueblo que El viene a consolarlos. Este mensaje está dirigido a todos nosotros. El Señor nos asegura que "Todo valle se llenará, cada montaña y colina será rebajada ... Entonces la gloria del Señor será revelada".

Esto implica que no importa la situación en que me encuentre, todo estará bien. todo será bueno. El Adviento es una temporada en la que miramos hacia delante con esperanza. Siguiendo lo que está sucediendo en el mundo; dentro de nuestros corazones y afuera, realmente necesitamos un salvador. Nuestros propios esfuerzos nos han fallado. Nuestros propios esfuerzos no siempre nos dan una satisfacción genuina. Necesitamos un mayor poder para hacer que las cosas fluyan de una manera más pacífica y reconfortante. Con las muchas distracciones que tenemos aquí en la tierra, nos encontramos cayendo cada vez más en algún tipo de vacío e incluso frustración. Isaías nos asegura que Dios debe restaurar nuestra libertad, nuestra alegría y nuestra satisfacción. El viene para aclarar las cosas, por lo que debemos prepararnos con la esperanza de recibirlo.
