

What is the School District's Role in Supporting My Student's Success?

Local educational agencies (LEAs) are defined as school districts, that are responsible for the following actions:

- ◆ Plan and implement educational programs, activities, and procedures as required under Title I that engage parents/families.
- ◆ Reserve 1% of Title I funds for parent/family engagement.
- ◆ Develop a parent/family engagement policy with the participation of parents/families.
- ◆ Provide full opportunities for participation of parents/families with limited English proficiency, disabilities, and parents/families of migratory children, and when appropriate, in a language and format they can understand.
- ◆ Conduct annual parent surveys and implement changes based upon the results of those surveys.
- ◆ Build capacity by providing early literacy and technology trainings that will help parents /families work with their children to improve academic achievement.

The Title I program offers a variety of services which may include: additional teachers and support staff, a variety of teaching methods and materials, smaller classes and additional training for staff.

Revised 7/25/2018

What is Title I?

Title I is the largest federally funded program for elementary, middle, and high schools. Through Title I, money is given to school districts around the country based on the number of low-income families in each district. Each district uses its Title I money for extra educational services for children in most need of academic help. The focus of the Title I program is to help all students meet the same high standards expected of all children

With Title I Programs:

- ◆ Children do better in school and feel better about themselves.
- ◆ Teachers understand the needs and concerns of the students, parents, and families.
- ◆ Parents/Families understand their child, and can be more involved in their child's education.

Parents/Families Can Get Involved.

- ◆ Volunteer at school.
- ◆ Keep in touch with the school.
- ◆ Visit the school website.
- ◆ Decision Making: You can help make important decisions about your child's school by participating in school council meetings, stakeholder meetings, and Title I annual meetings.
- ◆ Assessments: There are several measures used to determine your child's progress toward meeting the standards. These include standardized tests, benchmark assessments, and teacher-made tests. Results from standardized tests and interpretation of the results are distributed annually.
- ◆ Compact: Each school has a school/family compact that outlines how parents and school personnel will be responsible for supporting students.
- ◆ Participation: Parent activities, workshops, and trainings are developed around responses to the annual parent survey, as well as needs identified throughout the year.
