To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing concerning the bank accounts of Dr. Verna Linzey and the integrity and character of Dr. Jim Linzey.

I have balanced or reconciled Dr. Verna Linzey's checking and savings accounts which are held at Bank of America, Union Bank and the Navy Federal Credit Union as far back as January of 2011 in some of the accounting.

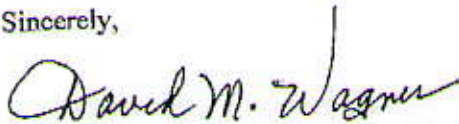

Dr. Jim Linzey has handled his mother's accounts in nothing short of an exemplary and responsible manner. All funds are accounted for and have never been missing or borrowed or stolen. I am satisfied with what I see. If Dr. Verna Linzey desires that her son Jim, who has been taking care of her since 2004, continue handling her finances, as reflected in the Power of Attorney, then for her peace of mind, happiness, and health, Jim should continue handling them. Furthermore, this would save Mrs. Linzey's estate a lot of money. Others should be denied who simply want to usurp Mrs. Linzey's authority and will and self-determination and wishes for her own life, and who might be seeking personal gain.

I have known Dr. Jim Linzey since he was 18 years of age. He lived in our home during the summer of 1977 and became my son's room mate at Vanguard University of Southern California during Jim's junior year at the university. He also was part of our church at that time at Bethel Christian Center of Riverside, California. And we have remained in touch throughout the years.

I've known of Dr. Verna Linzey and her late husband, Captain Stanford E. Linzey, Jr. for many years. Captain Linzey was a guest speaker at our church in the early 1970s. It was not until recent times that my wife and I and our son Steve had the privilege of visiting and meeting Dr. Verna Linzey at her home in Escondido and had wonderful fellowship there with her and her son Jim. At that time I had purchased and been blessed by her excellent books. We have the highest regards for the Linzey's.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

Sincerely,

David M. Wagner, BS, BA, MMIN, DD.
