Dear Alok

I am delighted to let you know that you were nominated for an award in the Education and Training Innovation Champion of the Year category in the Health Education Wessex Shine Awards 2014 to recognise education and training excellence for the NHS.

This was the first year that Health Education Wessex launched the awards and we received over 140 entries over the seven categories of:

- Inspiring Educator of the Year
- Outstanding Learner of the Year
- Wonderful Workforce Solution of the Year
- High Performing Education and Training Team of the Year
- Hearing the Patient Voice in Education and Training
- Education and Training Innovation Champion of the Year
- Chair's Award 2014.

Very well done on your nomination!

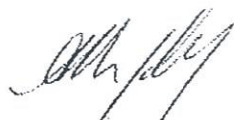

The nomination, in itself, is recognition that someone from your organisation thinks very highly of you and the work you are doing in respect of education and training. I am also pleased to demonstrate that your endeavour, hard work and dedication is recognised by Health Education Wessex and I enclose a Certificate of Congratulations.

If you do not know who nominated you and would like to find out, please contact Faye Smith at faye.smith@wessex.hee.nhs.uk or 01962 718522.

The calibre of entrants was extremely high and the finalists and winners in each category are shown on our website at www.wessex.hee.nhs.uk.

May I also personally thank you for your commitment and contribution to workforce development in Wessex. I truly believe that the key to excellent patient and service user care is a well educated and trained workforce and the fantastic work that you are doing is clearly having a positive impact.

Best wishes

Professor Allan Jolly ARRC
Director of Quality and Education
