Newly renovated handicap-accessible home for North Kingstown family: Home Dedication in North Kingstown, RI, on Saturday March 11, 2017

North Kingstown, RI (March 11, 2017) South County Habitat for Humanity and its dedicated volunteer's complete extensive house renovations to create a handicap-accessible home for the Chabot family.

WHAT: A home dedication will take place to thank sponsors and volunteers who made the renovations of this home possible and to celebrate the housewarming of a family who always believed that homeownership was beyond their reach. Along with local Habitat for Humanity representatives and volunteers, the family and other community members will speak during the short program.

South County Habitat recently completed the remodel of the one-level, single-family home for a courageous single mother and her seven-year old son. As a baby, he suffered an accident and was left with severe developmental and physical disabilities. The extensive home modifications will allow him a better quality of life.

WHEN: March 11, 2017, 1:00 PM – 2:30 PM

WHERE: 56 Boyer Street, North Kingstown, RI 02852

WHY: Habitat for Humanity brings people together to build homes and help provide a world where everyone has a decent place to live. Through partnerships with local companies and organizations, we can continue to serve more hardworking South County families.
