Upvc Doors With A Difference

Why "One of a Kind"

Introduction
Our "One of a kind" range of doors are just a selection of the many different combinations available when it comes to Upvc doors.
The doors in this range will be made using Rehau Profiles, which is considered by the majority to be the very best profile available in the UK, durable, reliable and most of all is the stunning attention to detail that is unmatched by other lower grade profiles.

The typical Upvc door hasn’t always been very desirable when it comes to the front of the house but things have come a long way since the time of the un-sightly paneled doors of the past, which never seemed very secure.

Over the years we have seen some massive changes when it comes to the way our doors function, in particular with front entrance doors is the introduction of the slam shut lock, which has eradicated the need for the typical lift to lock handle.
All our doors are available with this option, allowing for no handle or working in conjunction with a bar or pull handle, delivering a more contemporary or period look.

Some of the Benefits of the Upvc door in comparison to Composite Adaptability
The ability to design a configuration of door that will match an existing period door or give much more light than its counterpart, with the option to add any design of glass available on the market.

Colour Match
The choice’s for window colour has become a lot more varied and also the appeal for window and door colours to match. Although a composite door may be the same colour as the Upvc frame in which it is seated, it does not always appear so.
Although we know it’s the same colour, how the light is reflected from different materials can give the impression of a completely different colour, Giving the composite door in a Upvc frame a slight disadvantage when it comes to the aesthetics.
With a Upvc door, the door and frame will be made from the same material, making the colour match exact, meaning door, Frame and joining windows will work perfectly together.

We are a Certass Certified Company
Certass is a Competent Person Scheme that regulates the double glazing industry. The Department for Communities and Local Government set this scheme up in 2006. It’s main function is to ensure that double glazing installations follow Building Regulations. It also protects the buyer’s interests and installation quality.

Meeting Your Budget

One of a Kind is available in two different Profile types, our Premium door uses The REHAU Total 70 Profile. Our Premium door has extra colour Viraities and the choice to upgrade to a Slam shut locking System.

Our Economy Door Which Uses the REHAU Calibre Profile is limited in Colour options and is only available with the standard lever/lever or lever/Pad option, that you would find on most Upvc Doors.

The Calibre Profile

Developed by the same people that have given us the market-leading Profile (REHAU TOTAL 70) but because of new processing technologies, we can offer that same durability and resilience to fading, at a reduced Premium

We offer this Profile as Standard

- Golden Oak
- Anth. Grey (Grained)
- Rosewood
- Black Brown

Only a White Finish is available Internally

REHAU TOTAL 70
