LIFE Drawing

Curves and Motion

November 2 • December 20

Curves and Motion • Live Model Drawing

Hone and refine your drawing skills in this class dedicated to exploring the human form. Focus on making every mark count as we learn to see framework, contours, and proportions. A variety of nude models will pose so students can work on a piece for an extended period of time.

- Saturdays: October 2–November 16
- 7 p.m.–10:30 p.m.
- Course Tuition: $125 per Member
- Includes a Model Fee of $30.
- For ages 19 and older.
- Call for Materials List.

Barbara Hennig-Loomis, Instructor

Postcard

Visual Arts Center [Mock-up Project]

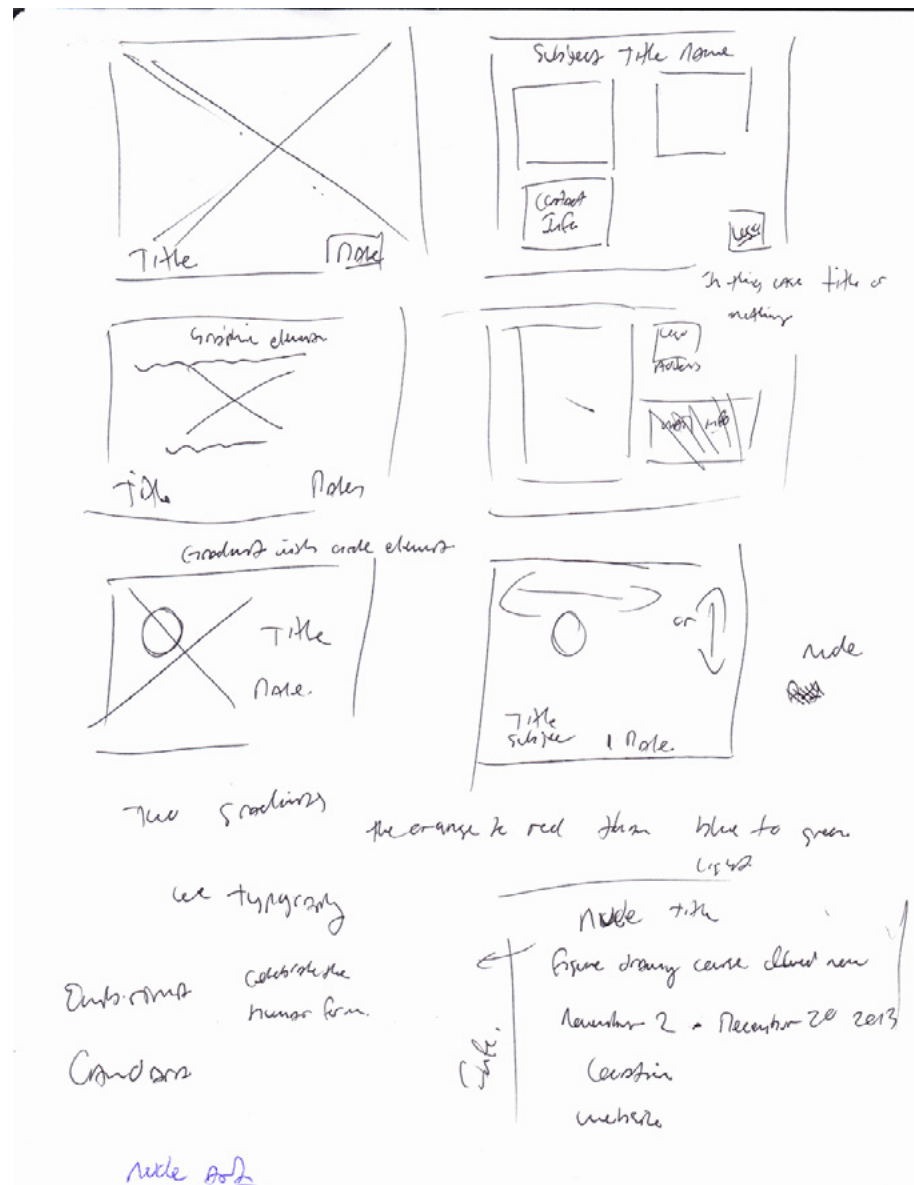

Portsmouth, VA This is an art class advertisement. The text explains that you could learn how to draw too by taking Fall 2013 the course.

Fall 2013

These are some nude plaster casts I drew in my Drawing III class (summer 2013) . I tried to capture all the curves and muscles of the human form. I loved these so much I wanted to put them into another project.

The copy would have open leading so it wouldn't look cramped and the text would explain what you'd do at the course. The print would be on textured paper like an artist's canvas.
