Well, you're pretty for a Dark-Skin Girl...

ABOUT THE BOOK: Meet Nova Higgins, the beauty guru who went from an unemployed single mother to an overnight YouTube sensation in the wake of an eye-opening divorce! (List Price; $22.99; On sale June 15, 2019). Twenty-four years old with no experience in the job market, a high school diploma and reeling from the fall out of her last relationship, Nova is left on her own to fend for herself and that of her seven year old son, Tucker. With her thinking getting out of control Nova begins questioning her purpose, reminiscent of her past she finds herself venting her frustrations into the infrared LED of the camcorder, setting off a chain of events she never saw coming.

Months later Nova is catapulted into a world of fashion, fame and fortune learning now that she must find a balance between career and motherhood. But how does she come to this revelation? And what will she choose, her new love for the industry or that of her family?
