

I have an obsession with Pike on the fly as well. I have designed a selection of streamers and materials to aid in the pursuit of the water wolf. The power and explosion of these incredible game fish is second to none. There is nothing in the world like hooking a big pike on a glass rod in small stream hand to hand combat style. I have three instructional DVDs on the market teaching my deer hair techniques. I also have a youtube channel offering free videos. My flies have been featured in multiple magazines and books over the past several years. You can follow me on Instagram...#rusuperfly or facebook. www.facebook.com/theinkedfisherman or check my website, www.rusuperfly.com for my products.

I am a member of the pro team for Predator Fly Gear, Epic Fly Rods, 3Tand Reels, Peak Vises, Cortland Fly Lines, Loon Outdoors, Jackson Kayak, Werner Paddles and Custom Gheenoe Boats. Hareline Dubbin distributes some of the products that I have created. I regularly demonstrate and teach fly tying. I also do presentations on these great warm water species at various events and fly shops all over the USA.

Capt. Steve (Scooby) Stubbe has been working and playing on the water since 1977 from the Texas Gulf Coast to the Canadian tundra – hunting, fishing, working, involved in several bass clubs, fishing tournaments, guided for the Sunshine kids fishing tournaments (fresh & saltwater) for several years, and attended seaman schools.

He was a regular guest on The Bob Stevenson's Outdoor Show (610 Sports in Houston) for three years.

He was given the opportunity to start his own radio show. He was the host of an AM radio talk show and my wife, Tamie, was the weather reporter live on Saturday mornings for 52 weeks. This live call-in talk show was named TechReps and was based on technical pros talking about mechanical repairs, equipment and the outdoor sporting goods industry.

Capt. Scooby has lived and fished on Lake Sam Rayburn for five years and currently lives and fishes on beautiful Toledo Bend Lake. This is his tenth year on the lake and he plans to retire there.
