

"UCC has provided outstanding day care for our two children, who each attended the center for over ten years, from the infant room to the school-age program. The teachers are caring and provide not just routine supervision but go the extra mile in organizing appealing age-appropriate activities. The needs of each child are considered individually. Family members are welcome to contribute in both formal and informal ways. When my kids were younger, I stayed with them at UCC for extended periods, so I have a chance to see everything first hand, and now I hear their happy reports about all the fun activities in the school-age program. A lot of play takes place outdoors, usually taking advantage of the nice play yard that each program has available. The center is well organized: for instance, staff makes sure that the caregiver-to children ratios are always as high as required, and I have been impressed with the ability of the center to have staff come in even on snow days when the schools are closed. The program coordinators are competent and professional. In the rare cases where something was amiss, the leadership of the center addressed the problem swiftly. In summary I whole heartedly recommend UCC as an excellent day care center."
